Table 4. Table Analysis of Transitions

Transitions– addition
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
And	1. Thank you to the people of Jakarta and thank you to the people of Indonesia.	P2
	2. I am so glad that I made it back to Indonesia and that Michelle was able to join me.	P3
	3. And unfortunately, this visit is too short.	P3
	4. ...I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic eruptions -- particularly those who've lost loved ones, and those who've been displaced.	P4
	5. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters...	P4
	6. ...the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4
	7. As neighbors help neighbors and families take in the displaced, I know that the strength and the resilience of the Indonesian people will pull you through once more.	P4
	8. And as a young boy I was as a young boy I was coming to a different world.	P5
	9. The Hotel Indonesia was one of the few high rises, and there was just one big department store called Sarinah.	P6
	10. And you didn't have all the big highways that you have today.	P6
	11. And we lived in a small house.	P7
	12. And I learned to love Indonesia while flying kites and running along the paddy fields and catching dragonflies, buying satay and baso from the street vendors.	P7
	13. I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7
	14. And while my stepfather, like most Indonesians, was raised a Muslim, he firmly believed that all religions were worthy of respect.	P8
	15. And in this way he reflected the spirit of religious tolerance that is enshrined in Indonesia's Constitution...	P8
	16. ...and that remains one of this country's defining and inspiring characteristics.	P8

	17. And I was so honored when President Yudhoyono last night at the state dinner presented an award on behalf of my mother, recognizing the work that she did.	P9
	18. And she would have been so proud, because my mother held Indonesia and its people very close to her heart for her entire life.	P9
	19. And few could have anticipated the remarkable story of Indonesia over these last four decades.	P10
	20. And while Indonesia as a young nation focused inward, a growing Indonesia now plays a key role in the Asia Pacific and in the global economy.	P11
	21. And I'm happy to be here on Heroes Day to honor the memory of so many Indonesians who have sacrificed on behalf of this great country.	P12
	22. When I moved to Jakarta, it was 1967, and it was a time that had followed great suffering and conflict in parts of this country.	P13
	23. And even though my stepfather had served in the Army, the violence and killing during that time of political upheaval was largely unknown to me because it was unspoken by my Indonesian family and friends.	P13
	24. And just as your democracy is symbolized by your elected President and legislature, your democracy is sustained and fortified by its checks and balances...	P14
	25. This is the foundation of Indonesia's example to the world, and this is why Indonesia will play such an important part in the 21st century.	P15
	26. We are increasing ties between our governments in many different areas, and -- just as importantly -- we are increasing ties among our people.	P17
	27. But our economies are now global, and Indonesians have experienced both the promise and the perils of globalization,....	P20
	28. So we are investing more in Indonesia, and our exports have grown by nearly 50 percent...	P21
	29. ...our exports have grown by nearly 50 percent, and we are opening doors for Americans and Indonesians to do business with one another.	P21
	30. And through its leadership of the G20's anti-corruption group, Indonesia should lead on the world stage and by example in embracing transparency and accountability.	P22
	31. And that's why we're developing clean energy technologies that can power industry and preserve Indonesia's precious natural resources	P23
	32. and America welcomes your country's strong leadership in the global effort to combat climate change.	P23

	33. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers, and by working together to foster entrepreneurship.	P24
	34. And I'm especially pleased that we have committed to double the number of American and Indonesian students studying in our respective countries.	P24
	35. We want more Indonesian students in American schools, and we want more American students to come study in this country.	P24
	36. But that's not what I saw on my trip to India, and that is not what I see here in Indonesia.	P27
	37. America is no different. Our own Constitution spoke of the effort to forge a "more perfect union," and that is a journey that we've traveled ever since.	P28
	38. We've endured civil war and we struggled to extend equal rights to all of our citizens.	P28
	39. But the journey is worthwhile, and it goes beyond casting a ballot.	P30
	40. And it will require a refusal to tolerate the corruption that stands in the way of opportunity; a commitment to transparency that gives every Indonesian a stake in their government; and a belief that the freedom of Indonesians...	P31
	41. The nations of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny, and the United States will strongly support that right.	P33
	42. And that's why we condemned elections in Burma recently that were neither free nor fair.	P33
	43. Now, religion is the final topic that I want to address today, and -- like democracy and development -- it is fundamental to the Indonesian story.	P35
	44. As part of that effort, I went to Cairo last June, and I called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world...	P37
	45. I said then, and I will repeat now, that no single speech can eradicate years of mistrust.	P38
	46. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38
	47. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress.	P38
	48. And that is what we will do.	P38
	49. Now, we know well the issues that have caused tensions for many years -- and these are issues that I addressed in Cairo.	P39
	50. And this is not a task for America alone. Indeed, here in Indonesia, you've made progress in rooting out extremists and combating such violence.	P40

	51. And we will continue to support Iraq as it forms an inclusive government...	P42
	52. ...and we will bring all of our troops home.	P42
	53. For our world has grown smaller, and while those forces that connect us have unleashed opportunity and great wealth, they also empower those who seek to derail progress.	P44
	54. And we are now building on that shared humanity...	P45
	55. And I admired its soaring minaret and its imposing dome and welcoming space.	P46
	56. Istiqlal means independence, and its construction was in part a testament to the nation's struggle for freedom.	P46
Total			56
Also	1. Now, this change also extends to politics.	P12
	2. But you also ultimately decided that freedom cannot mean replacing the strong hand of a colonizer with a strongman of your own.	P29
	3. Indonesia has also been at the forefront of pushing for more attention to human rights within ASEAN.	P33
	4. Along with this rich diversity, it is also home to the world's largest Muslim population...	P36
	5. But we also know that relations between the United States and Muslim communities have frayed over many years.	P37
	6. For our world has grown smaller, and while those forces that connect us have unleashed opportunity and great wealth, they also empower those who seek to derail progress.	P44
	7. But its name and history also speak to what makes Indonesia great.	P46
	8. As a Christian visiting a mosque on this visit, I found it in the words of a leader who was asked about my visit and said, "Muslims are also allowed in churches. We are all God's followers."	P48
Total			8
Moreover	1. Moreover, this house of worship for many thousands of Muslims was designed by a Christian architect.	P46
Total			1
Total Transition – Addition				65
Transition markers – comparison
Markers	Sentence		Frequency	Total
But	1. We had a couple of false starts this year, but I was determined to visit a country	P3

	that's meant so much to me.
	2. And unfortunately, this visit is too short, but I look forward to coming back a year from now when Indonesia hosts the East Asia Summit.	P3
	3. But the people of Indonesia quickly made me feel at home.	P5
	4. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7
	5. Indonesians had their independence, but oftentimes they were afraid to speak their minds about issues.	P13
	6. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia...	P15
	7. So today, I return to Indonesia as a friend, but also as a President who seeks a deep and enduring partnership between our two countries.	P16
	8. But our economies are now global, and Indonesians have experienced both the promise and the perils of globalization...	P20
	9. But that's not what I saw on my trip to India, and that is not what I see here in Indonesia.	P27
	10. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous, while also becoming a more just and a more free society.	P28
	11. But you also ultimately decided that freedom cannot mean replacing the strong hand of a colonizer with a strongman of your own.	P29
	12. But the journey is worthwhile, and it goes beyond casting a ballot. It takes strong institutions to check the power -- the concentration of power.	P30
	13. But the people of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny as well.	P33
	14. But we also know that relations between the United States and Muslim communities have frayed over many years.	P37
	15. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38
	16. In the 17 months that have passed since that speech, we have made some progress, but we have much more work to do.	P39
	17. But those who want to build must not cede ground to terrorists who seek to destroy.	P40
	18. In the Middle East, we have faced false starts and setbacks, but we've been persistent in our pursuit of peace.	P43

	19. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved,...	P43
	20. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45
	21. But its name and history also speak to what makes Indonesia great.	P46
	22. But here we can find the ability to bridge divides of race and region and religion -- by the ability to see yourself in other people.	P48
Total			22
Yet	1. Yet our nations show that hundreds of millions who hold different beliefs can be united in freedom under one flag.	P6
Total			1
Event hough	1. And even though my stepfather had served in the Army, the violence and killing during that time of political upheaval was largely unknown to me...	P13
Total			1
While	1. And while my stepfather, like most Indonesians, was raised a Muslim, he firmly believed that all religions were worthy of respect.	P8
	2. While my Indonesian friends and I used to run in fields with water buffalo and goats, a new generation of Indonesians is among the most wired in the world...	P11
	3. And while Indonesia as a young nation focused inward, a growing Indonesia now plays a key role in the Asia Pacific and in the global economy.	P11
	4. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous, while also becoming a more just and a more free society.	P28
	5. For our world has grown smaller, and while those forces that connect us have unleashed opportunity and great wealth, they also empower those who seek to derail progress.	P44
Total			5
Meanwhile	1. Meanwhile, we've made progress on one of our core commitments -- our effort to end the war in Iraq.	P42
Total			1
Total Transition – Comparison				30
Transition markers – consequence
Markers	Sentence		Frequency	Total
Since	1. So much has changed in the four decades since I boarded a plane to move back to Hawaii.	P10
	2. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told --	P18

	the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here -- is so important to the United States and to the world.
	3. In the 17 months that have passed since that speech, we have made some progress, but we have much more work to do.	P39
Total			3
So	1. So we moved to Menteng Dalam, where -- (applause) -- hey, some folks from Menteng Dalam right here.	P7
	2. So today, I return to Indonesia as a friend, but also as a President who seeks a deep and enduring partnership between our two countries.	P16
	3. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here,...	P18
	4. So we are investing more in Indonesia, and our exports have grown by nearly 50 percent, and we are opening doors for Americans and Indonesians to do business with one another.	P21
	5. That's why the G20 is now the center of international economic cooperation, so that emerging economies like Indonesia have a greater voice and also bear greater responsibility for guiding the global economy.	P22
	6. Islam flourishes, but so do other faiths.	P47
Total			6
Because	1. Because Indonesia is made up of thousands of islands, and hundreds of languages, and people from scores of regions and ethnic groups, my time here helped me appreciate the common humanity of all people.	P8
	2. And she would have been so proud, because my mother held Indonesia and its people very close to her heart for her entire life.	P9
	3. And even though my stepfather had served in the Army, the violence and killing during that time of political upheaval was largely unknown to me because it was unspoken by my Indonesian family and friends.	P13
	4. Because as vast and diverse countries; as neighbors on either side of the Pacific; and above all as democracies, the United States and Indonesia are bound together by shared interests and shared values.	P16
	5. But our economies are now global, and Indonesians have experienced both the promise and the perils of globalization: from the shock of the Asian financial crisis in the '90s, to the millions lifted out of poverty because of increased trade and commerce.	P20
	6. America has a stake in Indonesia growing and developing, with prosperity that is	P21 broadly shared among the Indonesian people -- because a rising middle class here in Indonesia means new markets for our goods, just as America is a market for goods coming from Indonesia.

	7. America has a stake in an Indonesia that pursues sustainable development, because the way we grow will determine the quality of our lives and the health of our planet.	P23
	8. Underneath the headlines of the day, we must build bridges between our people, because our future security and prosperity is shared.	P24
	9. Because ultimately, it will be the rights of citizens that will stitch together this remarkable Nusantara that stretches from Sabang to Merauke,...	P32
	10. Because there's no reason why respect for human rights should stop at the border of any country.	P33
	11. Because there are aspirations that human beings share -- the liberty of knowing that your leader is accountable to you, and that you won't be locked up for disagreeing with them...	P34
	12. The stories of Indonesia and America should make us optimistic, because it tells us that history is on the side of human progress,...	P49
Total			12
Total Transition – Consequence				23
Total Transition				117

Table 5. Table Analysis of Frame Markers

Frame Markers – sequencing
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Let begin with	1. Let me begin with a simple statement: Indonesia bagian dari didi saya.	P5	1
First	1. First, the friendship between the United States and Indonesia can advance our mutual interest in development.	P19	1
Then	1. I said then, and I will repeat now, that no single speech can eradicate years of mistrust.	P38	2
	2. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38
Total				4
Frame markers – annoucing goals
Markers	Sentence		Frequency	Total
Want to	1. Before I go any further, I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic eruptions,....	P4	2
	2. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4
Would like to	1. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here...	P18	1
Focus	1. I will focus on three areas that are closely related, and fundamental to human progress -- development, democracy and religious faith.	P18	1
Total				4
Frame markers – label stages
Markers	Sentence		Frequency	Total
In the years	1. In the years since then, Indonesia has charted its own course through an extraordinary democratic transformation...	P14	1
In recent years	1. In recent years, the world has watched with hope and admiration as Indonesians embraced the peaceful transfer of power and the direct election of leaders.	P14	1
Yesterday	1. Yesterday, President Yudhoyono and I announced a new Comprehensive Partnership between the United States and Indonesia.	P17	1

Now	1. Jakarta -- now, Jakarta looked very different in those days.	P6	6
	2. Now, I stayed here for four years -- a time that helped shape my childhood; a time that saw the birth of my wonderful sister, Maya...	P9
	3. Now, this change also extends to politics.	P12
	4. Now, this kind of development is inseparable from the role of democracy.	P26
	5. Now, religion is the final topic that I want to address today, and -- like democracy and development -- it is fundamental to the Indonesian story.	P35
	6. Now, we know well the issues that have caused tensions for many years -- and these are issues that I addressed in Cairo.	P39
Total				9
Frame markers - shift topic
Markers	Sentence		Frequency	Total
Before go any further	1. Before I go any further, I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic eruptions...	P4	1
Total				1
Total Frame Markers				18

Table 6. Table Analysis of Evidentials

Evidentials
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Indonesia's Constitution	1. And in this way, he reflected the spirit of religious tolerance that is enshrined in Indonesia's Constitution, and that remains one of this country's defining and inspiring characteristics.	P8	2
	2. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia -- that spirit of tolerance that is written into your Constitution...	P15
America's Constitution	1. Our own Constitution spoke of the effort to forge a "more perfect union," and that is a journey that we've traveled ever since.	P28	1
Motto of Indonesia	1. Bhinneka Tunggal Ika -- unity in diversity. This is the foundation of Indonesia's example to the world, and this is why Indonesia will play such an important part in the 21st century.	P15	2
	2. Bhinneka Tunggal Ika -- unity in diversity.	P45
Motto of America	1. In the United States, our motto is E pluribus unum -- out of many, one.	P45	1
Quote from a leader	1. As a Christian visiting a mosque on this visit, I found it in the words of a leader who was asked about my visit and said, "Muslims are also allowed in churches. We are all God's followers."	P48	1
Total Evidential Markers				7

Table 7. Table Analysis of Code Gloses

Code Glosses
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Called	1. The Hotel Indonesia was one of the few high rises, and there was just one big department store called Sarinah.	P6	1
- (Dash)	1. Before I go any further, I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic eruptions -- particularly those who've lost loved ones, and those who've been displaced.	P4
	2. This was back in 1967, '68 -- most of you weren't born yet.	P6
	3. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7
	4. Now, I stayed here for four years -- a time that helped shape my childhood; a time that saw the birth of my wonderful sister, Maya...	P9
	5. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10
	6. While my Indonesian friends and I used to run in fields with water buffalo and goats, a new generation of Indonesians is among the most wired in the world -- connected through cell phones and social networks.	P11
	7. In the years since then, Indonesia has charted its own course through an extraordinary democratic transformation -- from the rule of an iron fist to the rule of the people.	P14
	8. And just as your democracy is symbolized by your elected President and legislature, your democracy is sustained and fortified by its checks and balances: a dynamic civil society; political parties and unions; a vibrant media and engaged citizens who have ensured that -- in Indonesia -- there will be no turning back from democracy.	P14
	9. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things	P15 that I learned to love about Indonesia -- that spirit of tolerance that is written into your Constitution...

	10. ...symbolized in mosques and churches and temples standing alongside each other; that spirit that's embodied in your people -- that still lives on.	P15
	11. Bhinneka Tunggal Ika -- unity in diversity.
	12. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here is so important to the United States and to the world.
	13. I will focus on three areas that are closely related, and fundamental to human progress -- development, democracy and religious faith.
	14. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers, and by working together to foster entrepreneurship.
	15. It's about whether those forces that have transformed the Jakarta I once knew -- technology and trade and the flow of people and goods -- can translate into a better life for all Indonesians, for all human beings, a life marked by dignity and opportunity.
	16. That is what Heroes Day is all about -- an Indonesia that belongs to Indonesians.
	17. It takes strong institutions to check the power -- the concentration of power.
	18. That is the message of the Indonesians who have advanced this democratic story -- from those who fought in the Battle of Surabaya 55 years ago today; to the students who marched peacefully for democracy in the 1990s; to leaders who have embraced the peaceful transition of power in this young century.
	19. Hand in hand, that is what development and democracy are about -- the notion that certain values are universal.
	20. Because there are aspirations that human beings share -- the liberty of knowing that your leader is accountable to you, and that you won't be locked up for disagreeing with them...
	21. Now, religion is the final topic that I want to address today, and -- like democracy and development -- it is fundamental to the Indonesian story.
	22. Along with this rich diversity, it is also home to the world's largest Muslim population -- a truth I came to know as a boy when I heard the call to prayer across Jakarta.
	23. As part of that effort, I went to Cairo last June, and I called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world -- one that creates a path for us to move beyond our differences.

	24. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress. That is who we are. That is what we've done. And that is what we will do.
	25. Instead, all of us must work together to defeat al Qaeda and its affiliates, who have no claim to be leaders of any religion –-- certainly not a great, world religion like Islam.
	26. Meanwhile, we've made progress on one of our core commitments -- our effort to end the war in Iraq.
	27. America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved -- two states, Israel and Palestine, living side by side in peace and security.
	28. In the United States, our motto is E pluribus unum -- out of many, one.
	29. Bhinneka Tunggal Ika -- unity in diversity.
	30. And we are now building on that shared humanity -- through young people who will study in each other's schools; through the entrepreneurs forging ties that can lead to greater prosperity; and through our embrace of fundamental democratic values and human aspirations.
	31. Before I came here, I visited Istiqlal mosque -- a place of worship that was still under construction when I lived in Jakarta.
	32. But here we can find the ability to bridge divides of race and region and religion -- by the ability to see yourself in other people.		32
Indeed	1. Indeed, here in Indonesia, you've made progress in rooting out extremists and combating such violence.	P40	1
That is / That's	1. And in this way he reflected the spirit of religious tolerance that is enshrined in Indonesia's Constitution, and that remains one of this country's defining and inspiring characteristics.
	2. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia -- that spirit of tolerance that is written into your Constitution...
	3. ...symbolized in mosques and churches and temples standing alongside each other; that spirit that's embodied in your people -- that still lives on.

	4. America has a stake in Indonesia growing and developing, with prosperity that is broadly shared among the Indonesian people,...
	5. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers, and by working together to foster entrepreneurship.
	6. But that's not what I saw on my trip to India...
	7. ...and that is not what I see here in Indonesia.
	8. Our own Constitution spoke of the effort to forge a "more perfect union," and that is a journey that we've traveled ever since.
	9. That is what Heroes Day is all about -- an Indonesia that belongs to Indonesians.
	10. That is the message of the Indonesians who have advanced this democratic story,...
	11. That is why we are supporting your vibrant civil society in working with counterparts across this region.
	12. Hand in hand, that is what development and democracy are about -- the notion that certain values are universal.
	13. That is who we are.
	14. That is what we've done.
	15. And that is what we will do.
	16. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just...
	17. ...and that is in the interests of all the parties involved -- two states, Israel and Palestine, living side by side in peace and security.
	18. That is our goal.
	19. That is not to say that Indonesia is without imperfections.
	20. We had a couple of false starts this year, but I was determined to visit a country that's meant so much to me.
	21. Betchaks and bemos, that's how you got around.
	22. That's why the G20 is now the center of international economic cooperation, so that emerging economies like Indonesia have a greater voice and also bear greater responsibility for guiding the global economy.
	23. And that's why we're developing clean energy technologies that can power industry and preserve Indonesia's precious natural resources,...

	24. And that's why we condemned elections in Burma recently that were neither free nor fair.		24
Total Code Gloses				58

Table 8. Table Analysis of Hedges

Hedges
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
About	1. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7
	2. Indonesians had their independence, but oftentimes they were afraid to speak their minds about issues.	P13
	3. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia,...	P15
	4. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here...	P18
	5. Development, after all, is not simply about growth rates and numbers on a balance sheet.	P25
	6. It's about whether a child can learn the skills they need to make it in a changing world.	P25
	7. It's about whether a good idea is allowed to grow into a business, and not suffocated by corruption.	P25
	8. It's about whether those forces that have transformed the Jakarta I once knew...	P25
	9. That is what Heroes Day is all about -- an Indonesia that belongs to Indonesians.	P29
	10. Hand in hand, that is what development and democracy are about -- the notion that certain values are universal.	P34
	11. As a Christian visiting a mosque on this visit, I found it in the words of a leader who was asked about my visit and said, "Muslims are also allowed in churches. We are all God's followers."	P48
Total			11
Broadly	1. America has a stake in Indonesia growing and developing, with prosperity that is broadly shared among the Indonesian people...	P21
Total			1
Could / can	1. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10

	2. And few could have anticipated the remarkable story of Indonesia over these last four decades.	P10
	3. First, the friendship between the United States and Indonesia can advance our mutual interest in development.	P19
	4. We can choose to be defined by our differences, and give in to a future of suspicion and mistrust.	P38
	5. Or we can choose to do the hard work of forging common ground, and commit ourselves to the steady pursuit of progress.	P38
	6. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress.	P38
	7. Yet our nations show that hundreds of millions who hold different beliefs can be united in freedom under one flag.	P45
	8. But here we can find the ability to bridge divides of race and region and religion -- by the ability to see yourself in other people.	P48
	9. We cannot give in to doubt or cynicism or despair.	P49
Total			9
Sometimes	1. Today, we sometimes hear that democracy stands in the way of economic progress.	P27
	2. In an age of rapid change and colliding cultures, what we share as human beings can sometimes be lost.	P44
Total			2
Certain Values	1. Hand in hand, that is what development and democracy are about -- the notion that certain values are universal.	P34
Total			1
Total Hedges				24

Table 9. Table Analysis of Boosters

Boosters
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Must	1. Underneath the headlines of the day, we must build bridges between our people, because our future security and prosperity is shared.	P24
	2. But the people of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny as well.	P33
	3. Those are universal values that must be observed everywhere.	P34
	4. Instead, all of us must work together to defeat al Qaeda and its affiliates, who have no claim to be leaders of any religion –-- certainly not a great, world religion like Islam.	P40
	5. But those who want to build must not cede ground to terrorists who seek to destroy.	P40
	6. The nations of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny, and the United States will strongly support that right.	P33
Total			6
Would / will	1. I will focus on three areas that are closely related, and fundamental to human progress -- development, democracy and religious faith.	P18
	2. Gone are the days when seven or eight countries would come together to determine the direction of global markets.
	3. America has a stake in an Indonesia that pursues sustainable development, because the way we grow will determine the quality of our lives and the health of our planet.	P23
	4. These are the forces that will propel Indonesia forward.	P31
	5. Because ultimately, it will be the rights of citizens that will stitch together this remarkable Nusantara that stretches from Sabang to Merauke...	P32
	6. ...that will stitch together this remarkable Nusantara that stretches from Sabang to Merauke, an insistence that every child born in this country should be treated equally, whether they come from Java or Aceh; from Bali or Papua.	P32
	7. The nations of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny, and the United States will strongly support that right.	P33
	8. I said then, and I will repeat now, that no single speech can eradicate years of	P38 mistrust.

	9. And that is what we will do.	P38
	10. And we will continue to support Iraq as it forms an inclusive government...	P42
	11. ... and we will bring all of our troops home.	P42
	12. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved,..	P43
	13. As neighbors help neighbors and families take in the displaced, I know that the strength and the resilience of the Indonesian people will pull you through once more.	P4
Total			13
Exactly	1. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers, and by working together to foster entrepreneurship.	P24	1
Of course	1. Of course, democracy is messy.	P30	1
Always	1. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4	1
Really	1. These are the issues that really matter in our daily lives.	P25	1
Show	1. Yet our nations show that hundreds of millions who hold different beliefs can be united in freedom under one flag.	P45	1
Never	1. I made clear that America is not, and never will be, at war with Islam.	P40	1
No doubt	1. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved,...	P43	1
Demonstrate	1. Your achievements demonstrate that democracy and development reinforce one another.	P27	1
Certainly	1. Instead, all of us must work together to defeat al Qaeda and its affiliates, who have no claim to be leaders of any religion –-- certainly not a great, world religion like Islam.	P40	1
Did'n have	1. They outnumbered automobiles in those days. And you didn't have all the big highways that you have today.	P6	1
Indeed	1. Indeed, here in Indonesia, you've made progress in rooting out extremists and combating such violence.	P40	1
Should	1. And through its leadership of the G20's anti-corruption group, Indonesia should lead on the world stage and by example in embracing transparency and accountability.	P22

	2. There should be no illusion that peace and security will come easy.	P43
	3. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45
	4. The stories of Indonesia and America should make us optimistic, because it tells us that history is on the side of human progress...	P49
Total			4
Believed	1. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P8
	2. And while my stepfather, like most Indonesians, was raised a Muslim, he firmly believed that all religions were worthy of respect.	P38
Total			2
Believe	1. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38
	2. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45
Total			2
Know	1. As neighbors help neighbors and families take in the displaced, I know that the strength and the resilience of the Indonesian people will pull you through once more.	P4
	2. But we also know that relations between the United States and Muslim communities have frayed over many years.	P37
	3. Now, we know well the issues that have caused tensions for many years -- and these are issues that I addressed in Cairo.	P39
Total			3
Total Boosters				41

Table 10. Table Analysis of Attitude Markers

Attitude Markers
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Wonderful	1. It is wonderful to be here at the University of Indonesia. 2. Thank you for this wonderful welcome. 3. ...a time that saw the birth of my wonderful sister, Maya	P1 P2 P9	3
Hospitality	1. To the faculty and the staff and the students, and to Dr. Gumilar Rusliwa Somantri, thank you so much for your hospitality.	P1	1
Glad	1. I am so glad that I made it back to Indonesia and that Michelle was able to join me.	P3	1
Unfortunately	1. And unfortunately, this visit is too short, but I look forward to coming back a year from now when Indonesia hosts the East Asia Summit.	P3	1
Pleased	1. ... we are pleased to be able to help as needed. 2. And I'm especially pleased that we have committed to double the number of American and Indonesian students studying in our respective countries.	P4 P24	2
Inspiring	1. ...in this way he reflected the spirit of religious tolerance that is enshrined in Indonesia's Constitution, and that remains one of this country's defining and inspiring characteristics.	P8	1
Impression	1. ...a time that made such an impression on my mother that she kept returning to Indonesia over the next 20 years to live and to work and to travel	P9	1
Honored	1. I was so honored when President Yudhoyono last night at the state dinner presented an award on behalf of my mother, recognizing the work that she did.	P9	1
Proud	1. And she would have been so proud, because my mother held Indonesia and its people very close to her heart for her entire life.	P9	1
Remarkable	1. And few could have anticipated the remarkable story of Indonesia over these last four decades. 2. Because ultimately, it will be the rights of citizens that will stitch together this remarkable Nusantara that stretches from Sabang to Merauke,	P10 P32	2
Happy	1. And I'm happy to be here on Heroes Day to honor the memory of so many Indonesians who have sacrificed on behalf of this great country.	P12	1
Extraordinary	1. In the years since then, Indonesia has charted its own course through an extraordinary democratic transformation...	P14	1

Peaceful	1. In recent years, the world has watched with hope and admiration as Indonesians embraced the peaceful transfer of power and the direct election of leaders. 2. That is the message of the Indonesians who have advanced this democratic story... to leaders who have embraced the peaceful transition of power in this young century.	P14 P32	2
Hard	1. When I moved to Indonesia, it would have been hard to imagine a future in which the prosperity of families in Chicago and Jakarta would be connected.	P20	1
Rightful	1. America has a stake in an Indonesia that plays its rightful role in shaping the global economy.	P22	1
Greater	1. That's why the G20 is now the center of international economic cooperation, so that emerging economies like Indonesia have a greater voice 2. ...and also bear greater responsibility for guiding the global economy. 3. We want to forge new ties and greater understanding between young people in this young century.	P22 P22 P24	3
Precious	1. And that's why we're developing clean energy technologies that can power industry and preserve Indonesia's precious natural resources	P23	1
Exactly	1. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers, and by working together to foster entrepreneurship.	P24	1
Really	1. These are the issues that really matter in our daily lives.	P25	1
Simply	1. Development, after all, is not simply about growth rates and numbers on a balance sheet.	P25	1
Better	1. It's about whether those forces that have transformed the Jakarta I once knew ... can translate into a better life for all Indonesians, for all human beings, a life marked by dignity and opportunity.	P25	1
Inseparable	1. Now, this kind of development is inseparable from the role of democracy.	P26	1
Precisely	1. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous, while also becoming a more just and a more free society.	P28	1
Stronger	1. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous, while also becoming a more just and a more free society.	P28	1
Prosperous	1. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous, while also becoming a more just and a more free society.	P28	1
Ultimately	1. But you also ultimately decided that freedom cannot mean replacing the strong hand of a colonizer with a strongman of your own.	P29	1
Messy	1. Of course, democracy is messy.	P30	1

Persistent	1. In the Middle East, we have faced false starts and setbacks, but we've been persistent in our pursuit of peace.	P43	1
Enormous	1. Israelis and Palestinians restarted direct talks, but enormous obstacles remain.	P43	1
Easy	1. There should be no illusion that peace and security will come easy.	P43	1
Admired	1. And I admired its soaring minaret and its imposing dome and welcoming space.	P46	1
Optimistic	1. The stories of Indonesia and America should make us optimistic, because it tells us that history is on the side of human progress...	P49	1
Powerful	1. ...it tells us that history is on the side of human progress; that unity is more powerful than division; and that the people of this world can live together in peace.	P49	1
Important	1. This is the foundation of Indonesia's example to the world, and this is why Indonesia will play such an important part in the 21st century. 2. We are increasing ties between our governments in many different areas, and -- just as importantly -- we are increasing ties among our people. 3. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here is so important to the United States and to the world.	P15 P17 P18	3
Total Attitude Markers				43

Table 11. Table Analysis of Self Mentions

Self Mentions
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
I	1. I am so glad that I made it back to Indonesia and that Michelle was able to join me.	P3	2
	2. We had a couple of false starts this year, but I was determined to visit a country that's meant so much to me.	P3	1
	3. And unfortunately, this visit is too short, but I look forward to coming back a year from now when Indonesia hosts the East Asia Summit.	P3	1
	4. Before I go any further, I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic...	P4	2
	5. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4	1
	6. As neighbors help neighbors and families take in the displaced, I know that the strength and the resilience of the Indonesian people will pull you through once more.	P4	1
	7. I first came to this country when my mother married an Indonesian named Lolo Soetoro.	P5	1
	8. And as a young boy I was -- as a young boy I was coming to a different world. But the people of Indonesia quickly made me feel at home.	P5	2
	9. And I learned to love Indonesia while flying kites and running along the paddy fields and catching dragonflies, buying satay and baso from the street vendors.	P7	1
	10. I still remember the call of the vendors. Satay!	P7	1
	11. I remember that. Baso!	P7	1
	12. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7	1
	13. Now, I stayed here for four years -- a time that helped shape my childhood; a time that saw the birth of my wonderful sister, Maya...	P9	1
	14. And I was so honored -- (applause) -- I was so honored when President Yudhoyono last night at the state dinner presented an award on behalf of my mother, recognizing the work that she did.	P9	2
	15. So much has changed in the four decades since I boarded a plane to move back to Hawaii.	P10	1

	16. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10	2
	17. The Jakarta that I once knew has grown into a teeming city of nearly 10 million,...	P11	1
	18. While my Indonesian friends and I used to run in fields with water buffalo and goats, a new generation of Indonesians is among the most wired in the world...	P11	1
	19. And I'm happy to be here on Heroes Day to honor the memory of so many Indonesians who have sacrificed on behalf of this great country.	P12	1
	20. When I moved to Jakarta, it was 1967, and it was a time that had followed great suffering and conflict in parts of this country.	P13	1
	21. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia	P15	1
	22. So today, I return to Indonesia as a friend, but also as a President who seeks a deep and enduring partnership between our two countries.	P16	1
	23. Yesterday, President Yudhoyono and I announced a new Comprehensive Partnership between the United States and Indonesia.	P17	1
	24. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here -- is so important to the United States and to the world.	P18	3
	25. I will focus on three areas that are closely related, and fundamental to human progress -- development, democracy and religious faith.	P18	1
	26. When I moved to Indonesia, it would have been hard to imagine a future in which the prosperity of families in Chicago and Jakarta would be connected.	P20	1
	27. And I'm especially pleased that we have committed to double the number of American and Indonesian students studying in our respective countries.	P24	1
	28. But that's not what I saw on my trip to India, and that is not what I see here in Indonesia.	P27	2
	29. Now, religion is the final topic that I want to address today, and -- like democracy and development -- it is fundamental to the Indonesian story.	P35	1
	30. Like the other Asian nations that I'm visiting on this trip, Indonesia is steeped in spirituality,..	P36	1
	31. Along with this rich diversity, it is also home to the world's largest Muslim population -- a truth I came to know as a boy when I heard the call to prayer across Jakarta.	P36	2
	32. As a President, I have made it a priority to begin to repair these relations.	P37	1

	33. As part of that effort, I went to Cairo last June, and I called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world...	P37	2
	34. I said then, and I will repeat now, that no single speech can eradicate years of mistrust.	P38	2
	35. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38	2
	36. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress.	P38	1
	37. Now, we know well the issues that have caused tensions for many years -- and these are issues that I addressed in Cairo.	P39	1
	38. I made clear that America is not, and never will be, at war with Islam.	P40	1
	39. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45	1
	40. Before I came here, I visited Istiqlal mosque -- a place of worship that was still under construction when I lived in Jakarta.	P46	3
	41. And I admired its soaring minaret and its imposing dome and welcoming space.	P46	1
	42. As a child of a different race who came here from a distant country, I found this spirit in the greeting that I received upon moving here: Selamat Datang.	P48	2
	43. As a Christian visiting a mosque on this visit, I found it in the words of a leader who was asked about my visit and said, "Muslims are also allowed in churches. We are all God's followers."	P48	1
Total				58
We	1. We had a couple of false starts this year, but I was determined to visit a country that's meant so much to me.	P3	1
	2. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4	1
	3. So we moved to Menteng Dalam, hey, some folks from Menteng Dalam right here?	P7	1
	4. And we lived in a small house.	P7	1
	5. We had a mango tree out front.	P7	1
	6. We are increasing ties between our governments in many different areas, and -- just as importantly -- we are increasing ties among our people.	P17	2
	7. What that means -- and what we learned in the recent economic crisis -- is that we have a stake in each other's success.	P20	2
	8. So we are investing more in Indonesia, and our exports have grown by nearly 50 percent, and we are opening doors for Americans and Indonesians to do business with one another.	P21	2
	9. And that's why we're developing clean energy technologies that can power industry	P23	1 and preserve Indonesia's precious natural resources...

	10. America has a stake in an Indonesia that pursues sustainable development, because the way we grow will determine the quality of our lives and the health of our planet.	P23	1
	11. Underneath the headlines of the day, we must build bridges between our people...	P24	1
	12. And that is exactly what we're doing...	P24	1
	13. And I'm especially pleased that we have committed to double the number of American and Indonesian students studying in our respective countries.	P24	1
	14. We want more Indonesian students in American schools, and we want more American students to come study in this country.	P24	2
	15. We want to forge new ties and greater understanding between young people in this young century.	P24	1
	16. Today, we sometimes hear that democracy stands in the way of economic progress.	P27	1
	17. Our own Constitution spoke of the effort to forge a "more perfect union," and that is a journey that we've traveled ever since.	P28	1
	18. We've endured civil war and we struggled to extend equal rights to all of our citizens.	P28	2
	19. And that's why we condemned elections in Burma recently that were neither free nor fair.	P33	1
	20. That is why we are supporting your vibrant civil society in working with counterparts across this region.	P33	1
	21. But we also know that relations between the United States and Muslim communities have frayed over many years.	P37	1
	22. But I believed then, and I believe today, that we do have a choice.	P38	1
	23. We can choose to be defined by our differences, and give in to a future of suspicion and mistrust.	P38	1
	24. Or we can choose to do the hard work of forging common ground, and commit ourselves to the steady pursuit of progress.	P38	1
	25. That is who we are.	P38	1
	26. That is what we've done.	P38	1
	27. And that is what we will do.	P38	1
	28. Now, we know well the issues that have caused tensions for many years -- and these are issues that I addressed in Cairo.	P39	1
	29. In the 17 months that have passed since that speech, we have made some progress, but we have much more work to do.	P39	2
	30. In Afghanistan, we continue to work with a coalition of nations to build the capacity of	P41	1

	the Afghan government to secure its future.
	31. Meanwhile, we've made progress on one of our core commitments -- our effort to end the war in Iraq.	P42	1
	32. And we will continue to support Iraq as it forms an inclusive government, and we will bring all of our troops home.	P42	2
	33. In the Middle East, we have faced false starts and setbacks, but we've been persistent in our pursuit of peace.	P43	2
	34. For our world has grown smaller, and while those forces that connect us have unleashed opportunity and great wealth, they also empower those who seek to derail progress.	P44	1
	35. In an age of rapid change and colliding cultures, what we share as human beings can sometimes be lost.	P44	1
	36. We are two nations, which have traveled different paths.	P45	1
	37. And we are now building on that shared humanity -- through young people who will study in each other's schools,...	P45	1
	38. But here we can find the ability to bridge divides of race and region and religion,...	P48	1
	39. We cannot give in to doubt or cynicism or despair.	P49	1
Total				47
Me	1. I am so glad that I made it back to Indonesia and that Michelle was able to join me.	P3	1
	2. Let me begin with a simple statement: Indonesia bagian dari didi saya.	P5	1
	3. And as a young boy I was -- as a young boy I was coming to a different world. But the people of Indonesia quickly made me feel at home.	P5	1
	4. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7	1
	5. Because Indonesia is made up of thousands of islands, and hundreds of languages, and people from scores of regions and ethnic groups, my time here helped me appreciate the common humanity of all people.	P8	1
	6. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10	2
	7. And even though my stepfather had served in the Army, the violence and killing during that time of political upheaval was largely unknown to me...	P13	1
Total				8

Our	1. Before I go any further, I want to say that our thoughts and prayers are with all of those Indonesians who are affected by the recent tsunami and the volcanic eruptions...	P4	1
	2. We are increasing ties between our governments in many different areas, and -- just as importantly -- we are increasing ties among our people.	P17	2
	3. But our economies are now global, and Indonesians have experienced both the promise and the perils of globalization...	P20	1
	4. So we are investing more in Indonesia, and our exports have grown by nearly 50 percent,...	P21	1
	5. ...because a rising middle class here in Indonesia means new markets for our goods, just as America is a market for goods coming from Indonesia.	P21	1
	6. America has a stake in an Indonesia that pursues sustainable development, because the way we grow will determine the quality of our lives and the health of our planet.	P23	2
	7. Underneath the headlines of the day, we must build bridges between our people, because our future security and prosperity is shared.	P24	2
	8. And that is exactly what we're doing -- by increasing collaboration among our scientists and researchers,...	P24	1
	9. These are the issues that really matter in our daily lives.	P25	1
	10. Our own Constitution spoke of the effort to forge a "more perfect union," and that is a journey that we've traveled ever since.	P28	1
	11. We've endured civil war and we struggled to extend equal rights to all of our citizens.	P28	1
	12. ...one that creates a path for us to move beyond our differences.	P37	1
	13. We can choose to be defined by our differences, and give in to a future of suspicion and mistrust.	P38	1
	14. Our shared interest is in building peace in a war-torn land...	P41	1
	15. Meanwhile, we've made progress on one of our core commitments -- our effort to end the war in Iraq.	P42	1
	16. And we will continue to support Iraq as it forms an inclusive government, and we will bring all of our troops home.	P42	1
	17. In the Middle East, we have faced false starts and setbacks, but we've been persistent in our pursuit of peace.	P43	1
	18. For our world has grown smaller, and while those forces that connect us have unleashed opportunity and great wealth, they also empower those who seek to derail progress.	P44	1
	19. In the United States, our motto is E pluribus unum -- out of many, one.	P45	1

	20. Yet our nations show that hundreds of millions who hold different beliefs can be united in freedom under one flag.	P45	1
	21. ...and through our embrace of fundamental democratic values and human aspirations.	P45	1
	22. May our two nations, working together, with faith and determination, share these truths with all mankind.	P49	1
Total				25
The United States / America	1. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4	1
	2. Yesterday, President Yudhoyono and I announced a new Comprehensive Partnership between the United States and Indonesia.	P17	1
	3. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just told -- the story of Indonesia since the days when I lived here -- is so important to the United States and to the world.	P18	1
	4. First, the friendship between the United States and Indonesia can advance our mutual interest in development.	P19	1
	5. America has a stake in Indonesia growing and developing, with prosperity that is broadly shared among the Indonesian people -- because a rising middle class here in Indonesia means new markets for our goods, just as America is a market for goods coming from Indonesia.	P21	2
	6. America has a stake in an Indonesia that plays its rightful role in shaping the global economy.	P22	1
	7. America has a stake in an Indonesia that pursues sustainable development, because the way we grow will determine the quality of our lives and the health of our planet.	P23	1
	8. ...and America welcomes your country's strong leadership in the global effort to combat climate change.	P23	1
	9. Above all, America has a stake in the success of the Indonesian people.	P24	1
	10. America is no different.	P28	1
	11. The nations of Southeast Asia must have the right to determine their own destiny, and the United States will strongly support that right.	P33	1
	12. But we also know that relations between the United States and Muslim communities have frayed over many years.	P37	1
	13. As part of that effort, I went to Cairo last June, and I called for a new beginning between the United States and Muslims around the world ...	P37	1

	14. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress.	P38	1
	15. I made clear that America is not, and never will be, at war with Islam.	P40	1
	16. And this is not a task for America alone.	P40	1
	17. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved...	P43	1
	18. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45	1
	19. In the United States, our motto is E pluribus unum -- out of many, one.	P45	1
	20. The stories of Indonesia and America should make us optimistic, because it tells us that history is on the side of human progress,..	P49	1
Total				21
My	1. I first came to this country when my mother married an Indonesian named Lolo Soetoro.	P5	1
	2. Because Indonesia is made up of thousands of islands, and hundreds of languages, and people from scores of regions and ethnic groups, my time here helped me appreciate the common humanity of all people.	P8	1
	3. And while my stepfather, like most Indonesians, was raised a Muslim, he firmly believed that all religions were worthy of respect.	P8	1
	4. And she would have been so proud, because my mother held Indonesia and its people very close to her heart for her entire life.	P9	1
	5. Now, I stayed here for four years -- a time that helped shape my childhood; a time that saw the birth of my wonderful sister, Maya; a time that made such an impression on my mother...	P9	3
	6. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10	1
	7. While my Indonesian friends and I used to run in fields with water buffalo and goats, a new generation of Indonesians is among the most wired in the world...	P11	1
	8. When my stepfather was a boy, he watched his own father and older brother leave home to fight and die in the struggle for Indonesian independence.	P12	1
	9. And even though my stepfather had served in the Army, the violence and killing during that time of political upheaval was largely unknown to me because it was unspoken by my Indonesian family and friends.	P13	2
	10. In my household, like so many others across Indonesia, the memories of that time were	P13	1 an invisible presence.

	11. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia	P15	1
	12. So with the rest of my time today, I'd like to talk about why the story I just...	P18	1
	13. But that's not what I saw on my trip to India, and that is not what I see here in Indonesia.	P27	1
	14. Nearly 100,000 American troops have now left Iraq under my presidency.	P42	1
	15. As a Christian visiting a mosque on this visit, I found it in the words of a leader who was asked about my visit and said, "Muslims are also allowed in churches. We are all God's followers."	P48	1
Total				18
Us	1. But most of all, I remember the people -- the old men and women who welcomed us with smiles; the children who made a foreign child feel like a neighbor and a friend; and the teachers who helped me learn about this country.	P7	1
	2. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don't think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10	1
	3. But it is precisely this effort that has allowed us to become stronger and more prosperous,…	P28	1
	4. ... one that creates a path for us to move beyond our differences.	P37	1
	5. But I believe that the history of both America and Indonesia should give us hope.	P45	1
	6. That spark of the divine lives within each of us.	P49	1
	7. The stories of Indonesia and America should make us optimistic, because it tells us that history is on the side of human progress,...	P49	2
Total				8
A President	1. So today, I return to Indonesia as a friend, but also as a President who seeks a deep and enduring partnership between our two countries.	P16	1
	2. As a President, I have made it a priority to begin to repair these relations.	P37	1
Total				2
Total Self Mentions				187

Table 12. Table Analysis of Enggagement Markers

Engagement Markers
Markers	Sentence	Paragraph	Frequency	Total
Using language of the receivers	1. Terima kasih.	P1
	2. Terima kasih, thank you so much, thank you, everybody.	P1
	3. Selamat pagi.	P1
	4. Assalamualaikum dan salam sejahtera.	P2
	5. Pulang kampung nih.	P3
	6. Let me begin with a simple statement: Indonesia bagian dari didi saya.	P5
	7. As a child of a different race who came here from a distant country, I found this spirit in the greeting that I received upon moving here: Selamat Datang.	P48
	8. Sebagai penutup, saya mengucapkan kepada seluruh rakyat Indonesia: terima kasih atas. Terima kasih. Assalamualaikum. Thank you.	P50
	9. I still remember the call of the vendors. Satay! I remember that. Baso!	P7
Total			9
You	1. And I want you all to know that as always, the United States stands with Indonesia in responding to natural disasters, and we are pleased to be able to help as needed.	P4
	2. As neighbors help neighbors and families take in the displaced, I know that the strength and the resilience of the Indonesian people will pull you through once more.	P4
	3. This was back in 1967, ‘68 -- most of you weren’t born yet.	P6
	4. Betchaks and bemos, that’s how you got around.	P6
	5. And you didn’t have all the big highways that you have today.	P6
	6. If you asked me -- or any of my schoolmates who knew me back then -- I don’t think any of us could have anticipated that one day I would come back to Jakarta as the President of the United States.	P10
	7. Like any democracy, you have known setbacks along the way.	P28
	8. But you also ultimately decided that freedom cannot mean replacing the strong hand of a colonizer with a strongman of your own.	P29
	9. You go through your ups and downs.	P30
	10. Because there are aspirations that human beings share -- the liberty of knowing that your leader is accountable to you...	P34
	11. ...and that you won’t be locked up for disagreeing with them: the opportunity to get an	P34 education and to be able to work with dignity; the freedom to practice your faith without fear or restriction.

	12. And I can promise you -- no matter what setbacks may come, the United States is committed to human progress.	P38
	13. Indeed, here in Indonesia, you've made progress in rooting out extremists and combating such violence.	P40
	Total		13
Your	1. To the faculty and the staff and the students, and to Dr. Gumilar Rusliwa Somantri, thank you so much for your hospitality.	P1
	2. And just as your democracy is symbolized by your elected President and legislature, your democracy is sustained and fortified by its checks and balances:	P14
	3. But even as this land of my youth has changed in so many ways, those things that I learned to love about Indonesia -- that spirit of tolerance that is written into your Constitution; symbolized in mosques and churches and temples standing alongside each other; that spirit that's embodied in your people -- that still lives on.	P15
	4. And that's why we're developing clean energy technologies that can power industry and preserve Indonesia's precious natural resources -- and America welcomes your country's strong leadership in the global effort to combat climate change.	P23
	5. Your achievements demonstrate that democracy and development reinforce one another.	P27
	6. Like other countries that emerged from colonial rule in the last century, Indonesia struggled and sacrificed for the right to determine your destiny.	P29
	7. But you also ultimately decided that freedom cannot mean replacing the strong hand of a colonizer with a strongman of your own.	P29
	8. You go through your ups and downs.	P30
	9. That is why we are supporting your vibrant civil society in working with counterparts across this region.	P33
	10. Because there are aspirations that human beings share -- the liberty of knowing that your leader is accountable to you, and that you won't be locked up for disagreeing with them...	P34
	Total		10
Questioning	1. So we moved to Menteng Dalam, where -- (applause) -- hey, some folks from Menteng Dalam right here?	P7	1
Yourself	1. But here we can find the ability to bridge divides of race and region and religion -- by	P48	1 the ability to see yourself in other people.

Let	1. But let there be no doubt: America will spare no effort in working for the outcome that is just, and that is in the interests of all the parties involved -- two states, Israel and Palestine, living side by side in peace and security.	P5	1
Total Engagement Markers				35