

ABSTRACT

VIRNI YUSNITA. 2016. Cohesive Reference in Psychology Discourse on Ça M'Intéresse Magazine. Script. Department of French. Language and Art Faculty. Jakarta University.

This script examine the cohesion marker of reference in psychology discourse on Ça M'Intéresse magazine. The aim of this research are to identify and to describe a kind of reference, like total reference, partial reference and conceptual reference in psychology discourse on Ça M'Intéresse magazine, July 2014 edition. This is a qualitative descriptive research, that use the Christian Baylon's cohesion theory, Sylvie Garnier and Alan D. Savage's reference theory, discourse theory, media theory and magazine theory. This research use qualitative data analysis from Miles and Huberman, that are a data reduction, data presentation and conclusion.

The result of this research shows that is a reference used, namely total reference, partial reference and conceptual reference in psychology discourse article. But the most of the reference marker founded was total reference and partial reference at least.

So the result prove that psychology discourse on Ça M'Intéresse magazine, July 2014 edition has a form cohesion to make an easier effort to the reader. The result expected can be useful especially for the student of French department to understanding about the cohesion of reference and can make a more cohesive and coherent essay especially in Redaction I and II. This result also can increase student's knowledge about linguistic and discourse analysis.

Key words : Cohesion, Reference, Discourse, Magazine, Psychology