

ABSTRACT

ASTARAH FATHU JANNAH. Socio-spatial practices Daerah Pinggir Rawa (DPR) communities in Perumnas, Depok. Thesis. Jakarta: a Course of Study Sociology, Faculty of Social Sciences, State University of Jakarta, 2017.

This research aims to obtain an overview of the social context historical DPR Communities Kampung Lio. Other purpose is to explore over the function of space as a commodity local people. In addition the research also aims to obtain a decription of forms over the function Kampung Lio in the house of representatives.

This study adopted qualitative approaches with the methods narrative study. Technique data collection was carried out by interviews, observation, as well as study documents and literature. The subject of research are DPR communities and RT 06 Perumnas resident representing ownership of from their land in Kampung Lio. Research applied some the concept to support research, of them, squatter and production of social space.

The outcome of the findings in the research indicated that mastery a land starting from weak government control on public facilities as in this area around there great marsh. The land until noe be settlement because of high the need for dwelling cheap and existence of strategic group local of the location. In the middle of life in the land of squatter resident the house of representatives their Lio variouslu to get their needs live by making official licences population, have public facilities and get around varous disaster through talent. Social relationship people exists between land owners and DPR communities entwined. Social relationship between Perumnas resident not as close as between DPR communities.

Key word: Space, Squatter Community, Production of Space