

No.	Threads	User's Post (Utterances)	Flouting Maxim				Implied Meaning
			Qn	Ql	Mn	RI
1	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Forlong: Bet you didn't know... I was rereading "PoA". I noticed that, at the end of the second quidditch match, each of the chasers kissed Harry. So as of "HBP", Harry has been kissed by each female member of his Quidditch team. WhitneyM:): That little devil! :lol: :love: :cheer: (1) Gandhi: So now the lead character of this abomination is a playboy. Bravo Mrs. Rowling, Bravo. (2)		√			Whitney agrees with Forlong. She uses metaphor in order to admire Harry. She says such things as an admiration for Harry that she proud of him because he was kissed by chasers of the team. (1) Gandhi said Harry is playboy because he got kissed from the chasers (not only one person who kisses him). In fact, harry is not a playboy because the kiss that he received is not a kiss from a girl who he loves, it is just a friend kiss. In here, Gandhi tells false information in order to show his dislike. Also, he uses sarcasm to tease the writer of Harry potter i.e. JK Rowling. (2)
2	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: So now the lead character of this abomination is a playboy. Bravo Mrs. Rowling, Bravo. Alina: Are you trying to make us not read Harry Potter???? Because I noticed that you don't really like JKR, first the racism thing now this?? (1) Gandhi: So what's your point? (2)	√			√	In response to Gandhi's comment, Alina gives irrelevant comment; she asked a question to Gandhi in order to stress Gandhi's real motive of his comment. (1) Gandhi does not answer what required by Alina, he instead asking back something to stress that Alina did not

						have to ask to Ghandi because from his comment, it's clear that Gandhi as hater trying to make her stop reading Harry Potter. (2)
3	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: So what's your point? Irksome: Her point is that you're a bitch, and you shouldn't be on this forum. You lack common sense and, to tell the truth, you're pretty stupid. (1) I mean, you didn't even know who Hagrid was. (2)		√		Irksome tries to answer Gandhi's question by positioning himself as alina (actually it is no Alina's point, but him). Irksome gives false information to show his dislike. (1) √ He also makes the conversation unmatched by talking about Hagrid to show his cynicism and show his opinion about Gandhi that Gandhi knows nothing about Harry Potter. (2)
4	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: So now the lead character of this abomination is a playboy. Bravo Mrs. Rowling, Bravo. Your Worst Nightmare: you are pretty stupid pockets full of crap....HOW COULD YOU READ ALL THE BOOKS AND NOT KNOW WHO HAGRID IS....YOU DONT BELONG ON THIS SITE. 1.YOU DIDNT KNOW WHO HAGRID- ANY ORDINARY FAN WOULD KNOW THAT				√ In response to Gandhi's post, here the Your Worst Nightmare gives irrelevant comment. Gandhi was talking about the lead character of this film, but Your Worst Nightmare response with discussing Hagrid whereas he is not a lead character of harry potter. In order to show his cynicism to Gandhi, Your Worst Nightmare is giving opinion about Gandhi that he did not know anything about Harry Potter.

		2. YOU ALWAYS FIND SOMETHING TO COMPLAIN ABOUT MRS ROWLING. SHE'S A GREAT PERSON...
5	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: The important thing here is that Harry is a playboy and Rowling is clearly trying to make the youth of today to start cheating on their partners. Not bashing Rowling, just speaking the truth. of the lore: I feels you, man. (1) Gandhi: Glad to hear it. Now if you excuse me there are some pain killers that I must attend to. (2)		√			Of the lore using an irony in order to tease Gandhi in response to his post 'the youth of today to start cheating on their partner' as if Gandhi was cheated by his partners. (1) Gandhi tries to end conversation by saying something unrelated. (2)
6	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: The important thing here is that Harry is a playboy and Rowling is clearly trying to make the youth of today to start cheating on their partners. Not bashing Rowling, just speaking the truth. Forlong: Okay two things: 1: THEY kissed him! The only one of the four he kissed was Ginny. 2: He wasn't with Ginny when the other three kissed him, so it's not really cheating. I'm all for being faithful to your		√			Forlong's comment explaining that Harry is not a playboy and he is not cheating. Forlong wants to strengthen his opinion by saying too much information.

		significant other, but you're being way to picky. (1) Although I think Irksome was to mean to you, I agree with him. Since you obviously don't like Rowling and are actively bashing the themes of the series she wrote...Why are you part of a Harry Potter FANSITE!?! (2) Irksome: Whoops. Sorrehs. o-o (3)				√	Forlong agrees with Irksome by giving irrelevant comment which makes the conversation out of topic. He shows his cynicism to Ghandi by giving such his opinion. (2)
7	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Fire: I dont understand is rowling the name of some mod? Gandhi: Rowling is the evil devil that writes those accursed Harry Potter books! (1) Fire: im suprised you know so much about rowling are you a fan? (2)				√	Gandhi said that Rowling is the evil devil to show his dislike about JK Rowling. He gives false information to Fire. In fact, Rowling is not evil. (1) Fire knows that Gandhi is hater of Harry Potter, he tries to tease Gandhi by using irony in asking if Gandhi is a fan of Harry Potter, in fact Fire know that he is hater of Harry Potter. (2)
8	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Fire: you edited the part where it said edited Gandhi: That is not possible since the text saying you have edited your post is not editable as it is not part of your post. Fire: unless your a mods wife. (1)				√	Fire's gives irrelevant comments in replying Ghandhi's comments. His comment implies he is blaming Gandhi that Gandhi has edited the text. He writes such comment in order to stress that Gandhi really edited the text. (1)

		Gandhi: Even the mods can not remove such text, not even the Administrator can do so. Fire: you would know... (2) Gandhi: I have been here for over a year, so yes, I most certainly would know. (3) Fire: a year has nothing to do with it i was referring to the thread. dont jump to conclusions Gandhi: A year has to do with a lot of things. What about my beautiful thread? (4) I never do. Fire: dont steal threads! it rightfully belongs to forlong! Your so-called religion has taught u nothing! (5)				√ Fire gives irrelevant comment in order to stress his believes that Ghandi has edited the comment; he tries to prove his allegation. (2) √ Gandhi gives irrelevant comment in replying Fires' in order to end the conversation. His comment implies that he did not edit the comment and he is innocent, so Fire didn't have to prove his believes. (3) √ Gandhi responses Fire's comment with asking a question about his beautiful thread in order to stress that he has been over a year in this forum and he has beautiful thread. (4) √ Fire's comment implies that Gandhi is a bad person. He writes such comments in order to show his cynicism that Ghandi's attitude is not match with his religion. (5)
9	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: So now the lead character of this abomination is a playboy. Bravo Mrs. Rowling, Bravo.			√	Remus uses irony in replying Gandhi's post in order to tease Gandhi because of his words. The thing said by Gandhi

		Remus: :lol: That killed me :lol:				does not actually kill him.
10	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Gandhi: Now Rowling is getting kids to use self improvement pills because they can't do anything on their own, Bravo Rowling, Bravo  Remus: Man, you are in everything :lol:		√		Sarcasm used by Remus replying Gandhi's comments means Gandhi is nothing and it implies that Gandhi does not have any knowledge about Harry potter, all his words are joke that do not make sense. He said such thing in order to tease Gandhi.
11	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	Remus: Well, you made me smile A LOT!!!ARE YOU MAD, AREN'T YOU???) 8) Gandhi: I never get angry. (1)  Remus: I think I love you sigh :lol: (2)		√	√	Gandhi make the conversation unmatched, because he did not get what Remus really means here, Remus means the word 'mad' as crazy, whereas Gandhi think that 'mad' here means angry. Because of this miss communication, Gandhi's answer is not matched with the topic. He said such comment in order to stress that he is not grumpy. (1)  Remus using sarcasm in replying Gandhi's comment on order to tease Gandhi, this means that Remus feels tired in talking with Gandhi. (2)
12	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	HRH2013: Pockets said that he never jumps to conclusions.  Gandhi: Indeed.		√		Gandhi used irony to show his dislike about the page to HRH2013 that he said it is a lovely page. In fact, he is the hater of Harry Potter; it means that the page is HRH2013: Look at this page. Gandhi: Such a lovely page.					not lovely actually.

13	Bet you didn't know... (2007-2008)	HRH2013: Was it your mother? Gandhi: Nope. It was the brilliant Frank Zappa. HRH2013: oohhh claps hands (1) Gandhi: Ginny would not be pleased. (2)		√		√	He is teasing Gandhi by using irony in his comment in response to Gandhi's comment. HRH2013 claps his hand in his comment; it is not the clapping hands in true meaning that he impressed with Gandhi. Otherwise, he is teasing Gandhi by clapping hands. (1)  Gandhi tries to reply HRH2013's teasing by saying such things which implies HRH2013 did not have to claps hands. He replies by giving irrelevant comment in order to show his cynicism. (2)
14	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  Arabella: I don't know... snape didn't have to take it out on Harry.		√			Arabella's comment is uninformative because she does not answer the question asked by Blibbering in order to be neutral, she does not choose between Sirius and Snape. Also she uses slang which means Snape shouldn't express his anger to harry.
15	Now, you're on whose	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius					GinnyX does not answer the question. She gives irrelevant comment in order side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  GinnyX: Snape was pretty cruel to Hermione when she was hit with Malfoy's hex in GoF. And he terrorized Neville.				√	to stress that she is not in Snape's side. Her words imply that he dislikes Snape with showing Snape's bad traits, so GinnyX will not in Snape's side.

16	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  Halfbloodprincess: what can you expect? (1) he liked lily and his worst enemy ended up with her... wow... sorta like a slap on the face. i understand where snape is coming from but i believe that sirius is arrogant as well... (2)	√			√	He does not answer what required by Blibbering, he instead asking back something to Blibbering in order to stress that there is no need to choose between Sirius and Severus. (1)  He also gives too much information in replying Blibbering's post in order to show that he is in neutral position, he did not choose between two of them. (2)
17	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  Arabella: yeah I really can't decide who to side with here lol. they were both bullies sits on the fence	√				Arabella's words imply that there is no need to choose between Sirius and Severus because both of them have the same traits. She gives uninformative information in order to be in neutral position.
18	Now, you're on whose	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius					mandy29's comment is uninformative because she does not answer the side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  mandy29: I think Sirius is cool, snape is too but he was too cruel to people.	√				question asked by Blibbering in order to be neutral, she does not choose between Sirius and Snape because she thinks that both of them are cool.

19	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  DigitalAbe: snape was only lloyal to dumbledore because he felt guilty that lilly was killed, sirius would have died for harry in a heartbeat.	√				It implies Digital Albe chooses Sirius but he does not to the point. He compares Snape and Sirius by giving too much information in order to strengthen his opinion which makes Sirius is better than Snape.
20	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  wickedboy: Sirius was the bomb. He had the best lines. Snape was a wuss. Loving some girl who doesn't love you for your whole life??? He was on drugs (I hope) otherwise he's just plain nuts.	√				He chooses Sirius by comparing two characters and giving too much information which is no needed in voting. He gives such information in order to strengthen his opinion that Sirius is better than Snape, so it implies that he is on Sirius' side.
21	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.				√	Sgt.Sirius gives irrelevant comment in order to stress that he is on Sirius' side. His comment implies that Sirius not comparable to compared with Severus

	(2007-2011)	Sgt.Sirius: sirius is to cool and it's really not a side vs. side thing					because Sirius is much better than Snape.
22	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  ynniG: Now the question is if Snape and Sirius were to have a feud, much like in the 5th book, and Harry decides not to stop it (like he did in OP), who would he side with?				√	She did not answer the raised question asked by Blibbering, instead she asked question to the thread starter. From her question, it implies that she is in Sirius side because she was telling the past event between two of the character which makes Blibbering should think twice about his decision in choosing Snape's side. She answers with irrelevant comment in order to stress that Sirius is better than Snape.
23	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.  fiona8177: Tough decision Didn't vote either... I think Sirius is great with Harry, but when I read about him and James, how they bullied Snape, I didn't like him very much. :x Never liked bullies... or take their pleasure out on someone else's pain. As for Snape, I could understand how he hates Harry coz he's so like James in				√	She didn't choose between the two characters because she dislikes both of them by giving too much opinion about the things that are no necessary and not required in the voting. She compares both of them in order to be in neutral position. (1)  She also gives irrelevant comment in order to make fun about Snape. She imagines if Snape still alive, he will bully Harry's son and also will fall in love with Harry's daughter. Because she thinks that Harry's daughter will be look

		behavior, but he shouldn't have taken it out on the Gryffindors. Although he turned out to be a good guy, it's just kind of hard to like him enough to side with him over Sirius... (1) In my opinion, had Snape not died and continued to teach at Hogwarts, his attitude would not change one bit and would still take out his frustrations on Albus/James. Maybe Little Lily would be spared... hahahahaha.... That would be funny, would'nt it???? I mean, Lily would (MUST) look like Harry's mother, right?! That would be so funny... to see how Snape reacts... (2)				like Lily (Harry's mother) so Snape with fall in love with her, whereas if this thing happens, Snape will be called as pedophile. (2) √
24	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. Alina: Sirius all the way, at least I wouldn't be grossed out to run my hand through his hair lol. Even though Snape did give his life for harry I think that he didn't love harry like a son, he just saw lily in him, whereas				In replying Blibbering's post, Alina gives too much information which support why she chose Sirius and the reason she loves Sirius. She gives such comment in order to strengthen her opinion why she is on Sirius's side. √

		sirius loved harry and would've given his life for him without a second thought
25	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. Why So Sirius: Tough one, but Sirius edges out Snape on this one. I think Snape really is a good guy &amp; he did a really brave thing in protecting Harry all those years. However, I think he just has too much hatred inside him. I think Sirius is a better person in general because he truly cares about people. Everything good that Snape did was for Lily &amp; Lily alone. As for the bullying thing, I don't judge Sirius that harshly because at least he grew up &amp; grew out of it. Snape was willing to hand Sirius over to the Dementors years &amp; years after the fact. I understand that Sirius made Snape's high school experience rather horrible, but Dementors? That's cold, bro.	√			He replies Blibbering's comment by giving too much information, he also comparing the two characters that are Sirius and Severus in order to strengthen his opinion why he is on Sirius's side.
26	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.	√			In replying Blibbering's comment, he gives too much information by comparing the two characters that are Sirius and Severus. He gives such

	(2007-2011)	CMWriter: Sirius was a jerk as a teenager, but at least he wasn't a Death Eater. Then again, Snape was a lot more useful to Dumbledore/the Order than Sirius for a long time, sitting in Azkaban... ..But his motives were largely selfish. As we all know. I'm sure if he had lived longer, Sirius would have been a great help to the Order and an excellent fighter in the Second Wizarding War.					comment in order to strengthen his opinion why he is on Sirius's side.
27	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. PotterMarauder: This was a cruel question to answer, because I lovelove both of these men. But I had to pick Severus. I just had to. He's my all time favorite character.	√				PotterMarauder gives uninformative comments by saying that the question is cruel question; it means the question is a hard question to answer because he likes both of two characters. He writes such comment in order to strengthen his opinion why he chose Sirius.
28	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. Slytherin Matt: While Snape was pretty	√				Slytherin Matt gives too much information in comparing two characters which is not important and does not asked by thread starter. After he compares both of them, he comes to the conclusion that he votes Snape,

		mean to some students and was definatley mixing with the wrong people when he was younger, Sirius isn't squeky clean either. He and James were the epitome of jerk jock gryffindor bully to snape in school and unlike snape, who repented for the things in school and risked his life in the most dangerous job of the all right next to Voldemort, Sirius never showed any sign of regret about his treatment of snape and (unintentionally) got james and Lily killed (then again so did Snape). And lets not forget snapes action against werewolf lupin, namely placing himself infront of his students, who also happen to be quite possible the three kids he hates most in the whole school. So I vote Snape.				because in his comparison, it shows that Snape is better than Sirius. He gives such comment in order to strengthen his opinion why he is on Snape's side.
29	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. WSYJolynn: This is hard but to be honest, Snape really pissed me off in some parts. So, I chose Sirius. Even though Snape was protecting Harry for like the whole time when he was in Hogwarts, he was still	√			In replying Blibbering's comment, WSYJolynn gives too much information in comparing two characters which is not important and does not asked by thread starter. In his comparison, it shows that Sirius is better than Snape because he thinks that Sirius really loves Harry. He gives too much information in order to strengthen his opinion why he chose Sirius.

		really cruel towards him and not to mention Gryffindor. He is also one-sided as he chooses to deduct points from other houses but not his own. I know Snape was really angry at James for bullying him but throwing his tantrum at Harry is not helping in any way. Besides, Sirius still wanted to contact Harry even though they were so far from each other and Sirius was still the notorious murderer who escaped. He also risked his safety just to send Harry to the train to Hogwarts. Very loving, indeed. So, there, my opinion.
30	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. The Librarian: No matter what character you like the best, this isn't even a question.  Sirius was the person who was the one with a kind heart and with a nice personality. He had his faults as a teenager, but most have that.	√				From The Librarian's comment, it means there is no need to answer the question, because he thinks that Sirius is much better than Snape. He shows his opinion about Snape by giving too much information which telling Snape's bad side. Also, he doubts Dumbledore

		Snape how ever was not even a decent human between his fifth year and until he died. Snape: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* Bullied and hated a little boy due to being a rival to the boys father.</li> <li>* Favors students even tho that he is a teacher.</li> <li>* Bullies and struck down on students he personally don't like.</li> <li>* Looks down on muggleborns (expect one)</li> <li>* Refuses to even listen to facts when an old rivalry comes back.</li> <li>* Is obsessed with dark and dangerous arts.</li> <li>* Gives no sympathy</li> <li>* Served Lord Voldermort willingly for years.</li> <li>* Bullies muggleborns. (Hermione in particular)</li> </ul> Draco hexes/curses Hermione and her teeth start growing longer and longer, past her lips, chin, collar. And Ron makes her show Snape, and he looks at her and says, "I see no difference." So... A) He lets a student he favors to bully and hex a muggle born. B) He bully					because of choosing Snape as a teacher, whereas Snape does not fit to be a teacher. He gives too much information in order to strengthen his opinion that Sirius is better than snape.
--	--	--	--	--	--	--	---

		her himself.  Do I need to point out the fact that he is a teacher?  Really guys and girls. That is just sick.  Any other headmaster and Snape would have been kicked out for a ticket to prison.  For that I'm also doubting Dumbledore.
31	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius  I'm on Snape's side through and through.  Book 7 can only confirm it. taylorlou93: This is a tough one. I haven't voted yet because I'm still trying to work it out. I guess it depends on what you mean by "who's side I'm on."  In terms of that person as a character, I'm on Snape's. The whole "is he good/bad" thing was fantastic! I'd read that books dozens of times over and I never could have predicted the ending. Snape still is one of my favourite characters out of the entire series but being a good character doesn't necessarily make someone a likeable person. That being said, I cried bucket-loads over Snape's death and, as I've admitted	√				It implies that he is not on Sirius or Severus's side, he cannot choose because he likes Severus as character and he also likes Sirius because of his moral by comparing the good side of the two characters. He gives too much opinion about the things that are no necessary and not required in the voting in order to be in neutral position.

		before, I didn't shed a single tear for Sirius so make of that what you will. In terms of who's side am I on morally, I guess I'll go with Sirius. While both of them were technically in the Order, Sirius wasn't a Death Eater or even pretending to be a Death Eater (though we thought he was for a while). Plus Sirius loved Harry, anyone who thinks otherwise is kidding themselves. Snape didn't love Harry, he loved Lily- big difference! Although I've never really been a Sirius fan (the way he treated Kreacher REALLY didn't sit well with me) in the way he treated MOST people, I suppose he was the better person.
32	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. Heat: Sirius is a douche. Snape was a boss for teaching that annoying little prick Harry a lesson. Thank god he was there or Potter would be so much more annoying. :x		√			In replying Blibbering's post, Heat gives false information about Sirius and Snape. His comment showing that he dislikes Harry Potter.
33	Now, you're on whose	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius	√				In replying Blibbering's comment, Stitches gives too much information

	side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. Stitcher: It's very hard to choose a side to here I said i'm most likely on the side of Severus but thats only because of his memories. The lengths he went to to help and protect etc. I'm sure we all know what bullying is like in school and if you have it at home to it really can mess with your mind but despite all that he was a good person in the end. However, he actively sought to get James etc into trouble, and as Lupin said you can't expect James to take that..same with Sirius I suppose. In a different light they'd have made great friends but I think house rivalry crossed with Snapes love for Lilly and watching James get her eye really hurt him and again we all know what that feels like to an extent.				about Snape which is not important and does not asked by thread starter. In his comment, it shows that Severus is better than Sirius because he thinks that Severus really loves Lily and as a Son of Lily, Harry has Lily's eyes. He gives too much information in order to strengthen his opinion why he is on Severus's side.
34	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius (2007-2011)	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it. SilverSeverus: Severus Snape always &lt;3	√			In replying Blibbering's comment, he agrees with thread starter, he gives too much information in order to strengthen his opinion why he chose Severus. In his comment, it shows that Severus is better than Sirius because he thinks that

		i do like Sirius though even though i dont really want to at times lol but to me James was the worst of the bunch, i think it was Sirius' nature to be as he was, James did what he did purely to impress Sirius and others and i dont get along very well with ppl like that! ETA I will always believe that no matter what Severus really thought of Harry as he matured over the years, he had a persona he had to live by and thank god he did really lol. and i have often gone over would he still be a death eater if the Potters hadn't been targeted and i like to think that he had that love in him for Lily so he wasnt a complete cold B and as he got older i think he would have thought differently about his choosen path although you dont just leave Voldermort so i think maybe whatever happened Severus Snape was destined to die by Voldermort's hand in some way :(				Severus really protects Harry and he also loves Lily.
35	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.	√			DwellingNymph gives too much information in comparing two characters which is not important and does not asked by thread starter. First,

	(2007-2011)	DwellingNymph: Sirius Black is a bully who enjoyed humiliating Severus on countless terms, through Physical to verbal. I personally Hate him. Severus Snape unlike Sirius, was brave to stand up for himself against 4 good for nothing bullying losers. Even though Severus was Horrid to Harry, you cant blame him. He was abused at home and school, humiliated and knew to only trust himself during his childhood.. so naturally that doesn't leave you a rose smelling Happy Princess. Severus Snape did more for Harry than Sirius Black had ever done. Severus has: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Saved His Life countless times</li> <li>2. Covered for him</li> <li>3. Risked his Life Everyday</li> </ol> All for both the Order of The Phoenix and Harry Potter Who the hell wouldn't give out dententions to little teenage prats. People forget the tough job teachers have.				he tells bad side of Sirius, the he tells good side of Severus for protecting Harry. From his comment, it shows that Severus is better than Sirius. He gives such comment in order to strengthen his opinion why he is on Severus's side.
36	Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius	Blibbering Humdinger: Now, you're on whose side? Severus vs. Sirius I'm on Snape's side through and through. Book 7 can only confirm it.	√			In replying Blibbering's comment, Hexlight didn't vote between the two characters because from his point of view, both of them have mistakes and

	(2007-2011)	Hexlight: I like the two characters, it's hard to decide. Both are tormented with the past... Sirius sees James on Harry and Snape sees Lilly on Harry. Both made lots of mistakes during their lives. I think Sirius was very brave to have his own feelings instead of letting get involved by a family of "pro pure blood". But I think Severus loved Lilly so much that decided to take care of her son (although he gave to Harry a few hard moments), despite that Lilly choose to love another man. That's true love. I believe these two characters are the right representation of devotion and love (to friends, to lovers...), both gave everything to protect Harry for love.					efforts in protecting Harry. He gives too much opinion about the things that are no necessary and not required in the voting in order to be in neutral position.
37	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. The Librarian: Minerva McGonagall because she is the best of the best. And the most awesome ;D I came to respect her more than any one					He wants to praise about Minerva McGonagall by giving too much information and makes others who read his comment notice about his favorite character. She tells about Minerva's good traits which make him loves her as favorite characters, such as she is brilliant, smart, extremely talented, very

		else. And her character speaks most to me. She is brilliant, smart, extremely talented, quite harsh but always fair. And she was also very kind and good-hearted. She stood on the front lines in both wars and devoted her life for the good side and to protect her students. You don't mess with her. I mean she could control the family cat to do her bidding when she was under one year old. And in Hogwarts the Sorting Hat spent five-and-a-half minutes wavering between Gryffindor and Ravenclaw before deciding Gryffindor. Equally smart as brave. She got O's in all her subjects, she had been both a Prefect and a Head Girl, and won the Transfiguration Today Most Promising Newcomer award. And she even played Quidditch! In her final year a foul during the Gryffindor versus Slytherin match which would decide the Quidditch Cup winner (Gryffindor won) left her with a concussion, several broken ribs and a lifelong desire to see Slytherin crushed on the Quidditch pitch. Her charms where amazing. When Harry	√			kind and good-hearted. He also tells all about Minerva's good action such as she protects her students, she play Quidditch, she survived facing Voldemort and all her other intensity.
--	--	--	---	--	--	---

		and Ron had to eat in Snape's office, she conjured bewitched plate of sandwiches that would automatically refill itself. Non-verbal! And she was the only person seen to cast three Patronuses at once! She is also one of very few people who have fought and survived facing Voldemort. And during the battle of Hogwarts she showed why she was best of all in Transfiguration. With a flick of her wand she took control over all the suits of armours and the statues all over Hogwarts. And even some desks later. And when Neville accidentally transformed his legs completely invisible she fixed it by just wavering her hand! Non-verbal and wand less. How epic isn't that!? Minerva McGonagall is strong, talented, fair and also awesome and epic. She is my number one and the mere presence of her awesomeness make the other character look pale in comparison.
38	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.	√			She wants to praise about her favorite character that is Dumbledore by giving too much information which is no needed by SammyTee.

		HenriettaWalls: I like Dumbledore, because he's highly effective, wise, reliable, and he's very kind with everyone. He's the only person you can always depend on and ask for help or assistance when you need it most.
39	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.  Hermionelunafan: I'd have to go with Hermione Granger. Luna Lovegood comes in 2nd. I'd also like to add Pansy Parkinson as number 3, because she is good at being a baddie, and I don't think she's all that bad. She just tries to hold up her Slytherin pride with acting bad.	√				She tells that she has more than 1 favorite character by giving too much information which is not important and not asked by thread starter.
40	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.  Phoenix Tears: My favourite character is Remus Lupin because of the sheer depth of his character. I am very fond of how Rowling expands his character over the	√				He replies SammyTee's post by giving too much information in order to praise Remus Lupin as his favorite character. He explains about what Lupin done and Lupin good attitudes in his comment which is not needed by SammyTee.

		series and how he is labeled as the Hermione of his time at Hogwarts; "It was him who got the prefect badge." Remus Lupin is a brave character fighting his inner demon, the werewolf who waits to claim him and ransack the world when he loses control. I am very fond of the character because of how he handles his life as a werewolf and manages to be a brilliant wizard on the side. Our last memories of Lupin are how he can lose control in anger when Harry calls him a coward, how he is accused of trying to relive his glory days with Sirius and James. Lupin more than comes round and dies a heroes death, leaving Teddy Lupin as his life ends at home in Hogwarts.
41	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. ChibiLovett: I believe my answer is pretty obvious. :P I've still yet to make it to her in the books (On my way, reading GoF right now!),	√				ChibiLovett give too much information in replying SammyTee's post in order to praise Bellatrix as her favorite character. She loves Bellatrix because she is a bit of a feminist, same as ChibiLovett.

		but I loved Bellatrix in the movies since before my HBC obsession started. I've always had a weakness for the crazy ones. The same goes for evil/cruel ones and strong women. I find the crazy and evil ones more interesting and the strong women I like because I've always been a bit of a feminist.
42	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. zenobia1: Favorite character: The Malfoy Family (by the end of the book series, I was seeing the family as a cohesive entity rather than as a separate collection of self-interested people as I initially saw them). To start, I just loved Lucius Malfoy because he was beautiful and powerful (OK, I'm shallow) I liked that the white peacock was associated with him in the books. I couldn't help but feel that since his mascot was a white peacock, a beautiful, preening animal, rather than say a large white bear or hungry white tiger or some other dangerous animal, he couldn't be all that bad. And in the films, I had to love his elaborate, beautiful costumes. Lucius starts out dressing like a peacock, but by the end of the film series is dressing very similarly to Severus. Is this a visual clue that Lucius is feeling very oppressed, harassed, bullied, and disempowered by the Dark Lord? I don't remember if the books gave any similar indication regarding a change in his mode of dress. And Lucius never seemed quite as "pure blood" oriented as one might expect. He is described in a way that makes him sound like he has a fair amount of Veela blood for instance. And aren't Veela an entirely different species? And he speaks	√				In replying SammyTee's post, zenobila gives too much information that is no needed by SammyTee. He gives such comment because he wants to praise about Malfoy Family by giving too much information about The Malfoy Family. He tells about good side of Malfoy Family. First, he thinks that Lucius Malfoy is powerful and he is pure blood. Second, Narcissa is magically powerful and then Draco Malfoy seems intelegent. He also likes Malfoy because at the beginning they are bad characters, but at the end of story, they are become good characters and they are on the side of Harry.

		highly of Severus to Ministry officials for instance and apparently he and the Malfoys have a long-term association with him that they don't hide, though SS is an impoverished half-blood teacher. I always pictured Lucius as having been brought into the Dark Lord's ranks rather against his wishes at his father's insistence. Lucius strikes me as a rich pretty boy that would rather have fun, party, and play with his expensive toys than engage in serious politics or power plays. But if he had refused to enter the ranks, he would likely have been disinherited and ended up without means, perhaps in muggle society, rather like Severus' mother. And since he was acquainted with Severus, he could see the sad end result of that course. Lucius seemed too attached to the Malfoy name, heritage, and reputation to desert it in any case. But I couldn't help but notice that when he is making sport of the hapless muggles at the World Quidditch Cup in the guise of a Death Eater, the minute he sees the real Dark Mark, he panics and flees (as do the others), not wanting anything to do with the actual Dark Lord and that serious business of evil at all. And Narcissa never really did anything all that bad that I can recall other than calling Harry and his friends some unflattering names. Well, and making Severus take an Unbreakable Vow that could mean his death. And I got the impression that she was actually pretty powerful magically and could have done some severe harm had she tried. For instance, I seem to recall something about people who are stronger magically making softer "pops" as they Apparate. In the Spinner's End scene at the beginning of HBP, as Narcissa and Bellatrix Apparate, doesn't Narcissa make the softer "pop?" If I understand correctly, that could make her more magically powerful than Bella, who was indicated to be fairly formidable. Narcissa Malfoy: the soccer mom you never want to meet. Does the wizarding world have "Quidditch moms?" And Draco always struck me as a basically good (though snotty and spoiled) boy that really wanted to be a bad@$ but couldn't quite manage it. Unlike James and Sirius, who manage to come across as hateful and truly harmful students that actually intend to torment others for no real reason and are good at it too, Draco comes across as inept, clumsy, and a bit timid in that regard. He hides behind others and can't seem to manage really effective harm no matter how hard he tries.
--	--	---	--	--	--	--	--

		He does seem intelligent (for instance, in repairing the magic cabinets), but not inherently "bad" enough to accomplish the things set for him as an aspiring young Death Eater. And whatever his boasts to other students, his primary motivation in taking the mark may have been to try and save his family from the Dark Lord's wrath. In any case, trying to commit murder on the Tower just made him cry. He couldn't do it. Sirius, on the other hand, had been shown to be quite capable of murder at that age if no one intervened for him. And death and destruction seemed to make him laugh. So I was pleased that at the end of the book series, the Malfoys all survived and were reunited. Their ultimate goal towards the end seemed to have been to reunite as a family and be free of the Dark Lord. Even the last glimpse we see of them, huddled in the Great Hall with the others unsure if they belonged, makes them seem more decent and human. They could have simply fled after they were reunited and Harry eliminated the Dark Lord. They could have fled abroad to protect their assets and themselves from potential wrath. They could have merely left so as not to be contaminated by the riffraff. I figure Narcissa and Draco are cleared. I don't recall if there's any indication whether Lucius escapes Azkaban too. I hope so. I see him as having a big show trial that basically ends up with him free of Azkaban (because he did desert the Dark Lord and had not in fact killed Harry though he probably had opportunities) but being slapped with a huge fine (to pay the reparations and damages that wizards and witches aggrieved by the Ministry's lack of decisive action against the Dark Lord will no doubt demand). But however huge the fine, I suspect the Malfoys have enough assets to continue to live comfortably. And of course they have the intelligence, slipperiness, and experience to continue to acquire more. I'm hoping that the Malfoys would have learned from their mistakes and gone on to live more normal lives after the fall of The Dark Lord as typical rich snots of merely ordinary evil. I really liked their journey as depicted through the books: from "bad" characters with some seriously messed up family interactions, to a cohesive family unit all trying their best (if sometimes a quite misguided best) for each other.
--	--	---	--	--	--	--	--

43	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. Nucky Luciano: Severus Snape.. But I gotta admit I started to like him when 6th book came out so I'm not his fan from the beginning.. But since Half Blood Prince he is my favorite character in the books.. He was the only one that was able to fool Lord Voldemort.. Nobody else has done it.. He died on the end but only because Voldemort thought Snape was the owner of Elder wand and the only way to Elder Wand be totally Voldemort's was to kill Snape.. If Snape wouldn't "own" Elder Wand" he would probably lived.. :D But in the end Harry named one of his sons Albus Severus after 2 Hogwarts Headmasters.. :D	√			He gives too much information in replying SammyTee's post. In his comment, he explains that he loves Severus since Half Blood Prince book. And also because he was able to fool the antagonist character. No one else can do it except Severus. He tells what Severus had done and his good traits in order to praise him as his favorite character.
44	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. Paxis: points to avatar			√	He tries to make thread starter look at his avatar; it implies he wants others notice that his avatar is the picture of his favorite character. He writes such comment in order to get attention, so the other who read his comment will notice his avatar.

45	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. J17_FSU: My favorite character is Lupin. He may not be considered a main character, but he is multi-layered and has a large influence on Harry. When he is introduced, Lupin seems like he is quiet and will not add much to the series, but eventually his internal struggle with being a werewolf begins to develop, adding an interesting component to the books. His passive behavior has to do with the internalization of the discrimination against werewolves in the wizarding world. Overall, I think he is one of the most interesting characters in the series.	√				In replying the post, he gives too much information about Lupin. He explains such thing because he wants to praise Lupin as his favorite character and the reason why he loves Lupin even though he is not the main character in Harry Potter story.
46	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. Billius: Ronald Billius Weasley. He is extremely loyal to Harry and their relationship is incredibly strong.					In replying SammyTee's post, Billius gives too much information that is no needed by SammyTee. He gives such comment because he wants to praise about Malfoy Family by giving too

		Him and Harry hit it off very well when they properly meet on the Hogwarts Express, he was very respectful towards Harry and didn't pester him at all about his past (apart from a couple of questions). Harry sticks up for Ron when Malfoy comes into their cabin on the train, which Ron clearly appreciates and respects him for that, which makes him want to do the same. He does have flaws, however, as any realistic character should. Ron can get quite jealous of people and in turn, takes it out on their relationship as characters. In the Philosopher's Stone, he starts off with a bitter relationship towards Hermione which could be jealousy of her clearly superior intellect. In the Goblet of Fire, he is jealous that Harry is involved and angry when he thinks that Harry hid it from him. Later on in the series, Ron doesn't seem to be very jealous of anything, until Voldemort's horcrux locket brings bad thoughts to him, making him feel jealous of Harry and Hermione's 'relationship' (although this	√			much information about Ronald Billius Weasley. He tells about good and bad side of Ronald Billius Weasley, but he still loves Ronald Billius Weasley and chooses him as his favorite character even though he has bad side.
--	--	--	---	--	--	--

		feeling quickly leaves him once he takes off the locket). Ron doesn't seem to be jealous that Harry is the 'Chosen One' (A very cliché term). Ron is just happy to be involved, perhaps because it makes him feel respected, brave and appreciated. All Ron seems to want is a purpose in life, he doesn't care much for material gain (especially towards the end of the series). Ron finds his purpose as Harry's Ally, an Auror for the ministry and perhaps most importantly, a husband to Hermione and a father for Rose and Hugo. Those are the main reasons why Ron is my favourite character.
47	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. Fuzzy Snape: Severus Snape/Alan Rickman Snape was so devoted; it's heartbreaking. When he says, "Always." It kills me. To risk so much out of love after all that time	√				He wants to praise about Severus Snape as his favorite character by giving too much information in his comment.

		is touching. I think it's most impressive because Slytherin is stereotyped as an evil house and he proves this wrong. He really cared for Harry but couldn't ever show it, till the end. And I love the way Alan Rickman portrays him. He is exactly what I wanted to see.
48	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing. Thorium: Lucius Malfoy. Love from the first sight:) To my mind he deserves more than Voldemort to take a place of the Dark Lord. He is sane, not psychotic and without death-phobia. He is pure blooded and doesn't have complexes about having Muggle relatives unlike to Riddle. He is rich and influential, well educated, which is very useful in the ideological war. He is very good-looking too) I think he can be a good leader (not dictator) if he has a good team and I think most of the DEs might acknowledge him as a new leader (if Voldemort was suddenly killed in 4-5th book). Yes he's not super-brave, but there's no use in bravery if the only result	√				In replying the post, Thorium gives too much information about Lucious Malfoy. He explains such thing because he wants to praise Lucious Malfoy as his favorite character and the reason why he likes Lucious Malfoy.

		of it is Azkaban. He's sly like snake and it's much better. I vote for Lucius Malfoy as a new Lord! :)
49	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.  Pretty_Twisted: I will give you guys one guess ... hahaha ... Seriously though, I found certain characters that I would hate to know in real life to be a pleasure reading about, like Bellatrix and Voldemort and in some points even the Malfoy family.			√		In replying the post, Pretty_Twisted gives unnecessary prolixity comment which is not asked by thread starter. She also didn't answer what required by SammyTee. Instead, she gives puzzle in order to make SammyTee guessing her favorite character. He writes such comment in order to get attention from users in the forum, so that the users will guess who her favorite character is.
50	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.  Stefanvh: I have several, but it's up to you to guess which one is the top one for me :D			√		In replying the post, Stefanvh does not state information clearly. He also didn't answer what required by SammyTee. Instead, he gives puzzle in order to make SammyTee guessing his favorite character. He writes such comment in order to get attention from thread starter.
51	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.	√				She is listing her favorite character, it implies that she has some characters which she loves (not only one) by giving too much information which is not necessary. He states such thing in Ihopetherespudging33: Mine is Luna Lovegood 1st, then Hermione and then Harry. I do love all of the characters, because they are all part of Harry Potter, but those are my top three. Hermione was my favorite character until OOTP came around, and then Luna just touched a huge part of my soul when I first read her parts in the 5th book. She added a bit of comedic relief, quirkiness and charm into a dark part of Harry's story.					order to praise Luna, Hermonie and Harry as her favorite characters.

52	Who's your 1 favorite character? (2012-2014)	SammyTee: Who's your 1 favorite character? Mine's probably Bellatrix. Her actor in the movie was amazing.  FredWeasleyWifeForLife: Definitely Ronald Weasley! Love the actor (my first movie crush) and just love the character. I'm quite surprised to see him so loved on here considering all I normally see is 'JK should have killed Ron off!'. :x  Three of the many moments of Ron I loved:  'She needs to sort out her priorities' 'If you want to kill Harry you'll have to	√				In replying SammyTee's post, FredWeasleyWifeForLife gives too much information about Ronald Weasley. He explains such thing because he wants to praise Ronald Weasley as his favorite character and the reason why he loves Ronald Weasley.

		kill us too 'Get away from me wearwolf' - this one had me in tears :lol:
53	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book.  Stefanvh: What does it matter? At the end of the day he's still the same evil pro- purist fascist.				√	He does not answer what required by kingirl89, instead she gives irrelevant comment to stress that Voldemort is an evil. There is no need to choose a nickname for him.
54	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book.  Grrarrggh: It kind of saddens me that no one else in the books made fun of Voldemort's self assigned name and title. I mean, the material is there....				√	He did not answer the raised question asked by kingirl89. He answers with irrelevant comment to stress that there is no need to choose a nickname for him because according to his comment, no one else in the book made fun of Voldemort's nickname as in this thread.
55	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book.  SecretaryofMagic: Tom Riddle? This might be slightly OT, but does				√	He gives irrelevant comment which makes the conversation out of topic in order to stress that Voldemort is not that

		anyone besides me think Voldemort wasn't that terrible of a villain? (1) Sure he is scary and powerful, but for some reason I could never bring myself to hate him the way I did Bellatrix,Umbridge,Fudge etc. For being a dark lord he isn't terribly cruel. Avada Kedavra is a pretty quick and painless way to go tbh. Im sure Crucio is awful, but I think there are muggle methods of torture and execution that make Crucio seem tame. He's not terribly sadistic. Also, people say he is a fascist? really? I suppose he sort of is a blood-supremacist. But his hands never were anywhere near as dirty as Hitler or Stalin's. Perhaps he just never got the opportunity? He also isn't terribly intelligent or perspective. His goals are pretty narrow and personal, and he doesn't have much of a grand vision. Its all about, for him ,getting back at Dumbledore and Harry. I know JK kept trying to make the Death Eater take over of the ministry look like the third Reich, but she didn't really	√				terrible of a villain, so there is no need answer the raised question about Voldemort's nickname. (1) SecretaryofMagic also give too much information about Voldemort in his comment. He gives his advocacy to Voldemort and his point of view about him. Although Voldemort is an antagonist character, he believes that Voldemort is not as evil as people think. He said such thing in order to strengthen his opinion that Voldemort is not terrible villain. (2)
--	--	---	---	--	--	--	---

		succeed. Apart from the Muggle-borns it seems most people weren't that affected. Like Im sure most wizarding families (and even Rita Skeeter) could continue their lives as normal. I assume Fred and George didn't run their joke shop in the last book though? For some bizarre reason the death/eaters/ ministry never tried to track down every last Weasley and bring them in for questioning regarding Harry. How Arthur was never seized at the Ministry I will never know. (2)
56	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book. SunDance: I always think "Moldy Shorts" when I see Voldemort's name.				√	In replying kingirl89's post, he does not answer the question as required by kingirl89. Instead, he gives his own nickname of Voldemort. He gives irrelevant comment in order to stress that he has his own nickname for Voldemort that is Moldy Shorts.
57	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book. MadamPince: The Dark Lord.				√	She does not answer the question as required by kingirl89. She gives irrelevant comment in order to stress that she has his own nickname for Voldemort that is The Dark Lord.

58	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book. house elf: my favorite was when uncle vern called him "voldything"				√	In replying kingirl's post, house elf gives irrelevant comment in order to stress that he has his own nickname for Voldemort that is voldything. He did not answer the raised question asked by kingirl89.
59	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book. Ninclow: If you remove the V and the T, you're left with Oldemor, which is the Norwegian and Danish word for great-grandmother.				√	He does not answer the question as required by kingirl89. Instead, he gives unrelated comment in order to make fun about Voldemort's name. There is a Norwegian and Danish word in Voldemort's name.
60	Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy (2015)	kingirl89: Voldemort, Voldie, Voldy Which do you use Voldie or Voldy. I use Voldie even though Voldy is canon it was used by Peeves in the seventh book. Halfbloodprince: The Dark Lord. Fun fact, Voldemort means Flight of Death in French.				√	He does not answer the question as required by kingirl89. He gives irrelevant comment in order to to make fun about Voldemort's name; there is the meaning behind Voldemort's name.