

ABSTRACT

AJI PANUNGGAL, “Model Playing Kicking in Football For Early Childhood (6-8) Years Old.” Thesis : Jakarta, Program Study Sport Science, Recreation Of Sport, Sport Science Faculty, Jakarta State University, June 2017.

The research of this Thesis seeks to make models play kicking in football for early childhood (6-8) years in the Soccer School Indonesia Rising star. Product model play kicking in soccer with its specifications are expected to be used as references in the recreational sports activities combined with the sport of football in particular for early childhood (6-8) years.

This research was conducted at the school football Indonesia Rising Star in complex International Sport Club Indonesia, Banten Ciputat Tangerang Indonesia, 15411. This research used the time for approximately 1 month, starting February 1 2017 until April 1, 2017.

Methods of research and development (Research and Development) this has to go through stages such as needs analysis that will describe the requirements to be a problem of the subject. After learning needs that are required by the subject of the research the next step is to determine which product development plan. Products that are developed will be evaluated first before tested cobakan to know the weaknesses and shortcomings.

The making of the initial product that has been made, in consult to experts in their field, respectively, to get feedback and suggestions. Once deemed worthy and get product revisions, the results evaluated data collection as a basis for refining the products that will be on the test cobakan in small groups students Soccer School Indonesia Rising Star by involving 15 subject students Soccer School Indonesia Rising Star.

After tests in small groups, then through the revision stage of a final product with advice from experts, to be ready for the final product in the test cobakan in a large group of students Soccer School Indonesia Rising Star by involving 30 subject students Soccer School Indonesia Rising Star.

Based on the overall results obtained from expert football Nur Fitranto, m. Pd, 1 theorists play for early childhood Abdul Gani, m. Pd stating that models play kicking in football for early childhood worthy of use for research.

Final conclusions which can be obtained through this research is a model play kicking in football for early childhood (6-8) years in the Soccer School Indonesia Rising star can be used although there are still many deficiencies in the packaging.