

GROUP GUIDANCE PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT OF SELF-READINESS FOR MARRIED AND HAVING FAMILY DEVELOPMENT ASPECT FOR SMAN 12 TANGERANG DISTRICT STUDENTS
(2015)

Nadia Ramdhiani Widiastuti

ABSTRACT

This study aims to develop Group Guidance Program of Self-Readiness Development Aspect For Students of SMAN 12 Tangerang District. Preparation of this group guidance program is motivated by the needs of the students to prepare themselves towards married life. Students are in an environment with high marriage rates in school-age based on preliminary studies. Preliminary studies were conducted using interviews and study of the data in the school and in the District KUA Teluknaga. Methods used in this research is Research and Development that developed by Borg & Gall. The resulting program is still hypothetical that has been tested by expert validation by three professors from the Department of Guidance and Counseling. The results obtained the form of p Group Guidance program formulation include: rationale, description of requirements, program objectives, program components, the operational plan (action plan), the development of the theme, the service unit, as well as evaluation and follow-up. Results of the validation experts stated that the group guidance program falls into the category of Good. Based on the validation test by the expert, group guidance program that drafted is feasible for subsequent use in guidance activities in high school group. Results are expected to be used as an alternative solution to the rejection of revision of restrictions on the age of Marriage Act by Constitutional Court. Recommendations for future research is to implement the pilot phase so that the Group Guidance Program can be immediately applied in guidance and counseling services in schools.

Keywords: Group Guidance Program, Self -Readiness, Marriage