

PENGEMBANGAN MODEL PEMBELAJARAN PASSING BOLA BASKET
PADA SEKOLAH MENENGAH PERTAMA

DEVELOPMENT OF LEARNING PASSING BASKET BALL JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Yafi Velyan Mahyudi

In generally, the purpose of the research and development was to produce a model development of learning passing the volleyball for junior high school. This Research & Development (R & D) was using approach of Brog and Gall. The subject of this research & development were 12 students for small group testing and 60 students for big group testing in Jembrana Bali junior high school .

The development of the learning model which is validated by learning experts got an average percentage of 77,99%. Therefore the development of the learning model which is validated by games experts physical education experts exercise and overall halth experts got an average percentage of 82,35%, therefore the development of learning model has very good value and can be use. The development of the learning model which is validated by media of education experts got an average percentage of 82%, therefore the development of learning model has very good value and can be use. From the result of the test of the small group, the development of learning model of passing volleyball, in overal got an average percentage of 81,18%. This result shows the very good criterion and can be use in the learning process. While from the result of the test of the big group, the development of learning model of passing volleyball, which developed by reresearcher, in overall got an average percentage 77,81%. The result shows the good criterion and can be use in the learning process.

To improve the produce of the creative and inovative guidebook needed the creative and inovative teacher in using the media of education. Is better study and see firstly the product of the guidebook before doing it pratically, in which to make the students interest to their lesson. It will make the students easily understand the lesson and the education will be more fun for the students.