ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I humbly give my praises and thanks to The Almighty Allah. It was through His showers of blessings and love that I was able to finally finish this study. I would humble myself from my deepest heart in the mentions of the following names below who have given all the supports I needed throughout the process writing of this study.

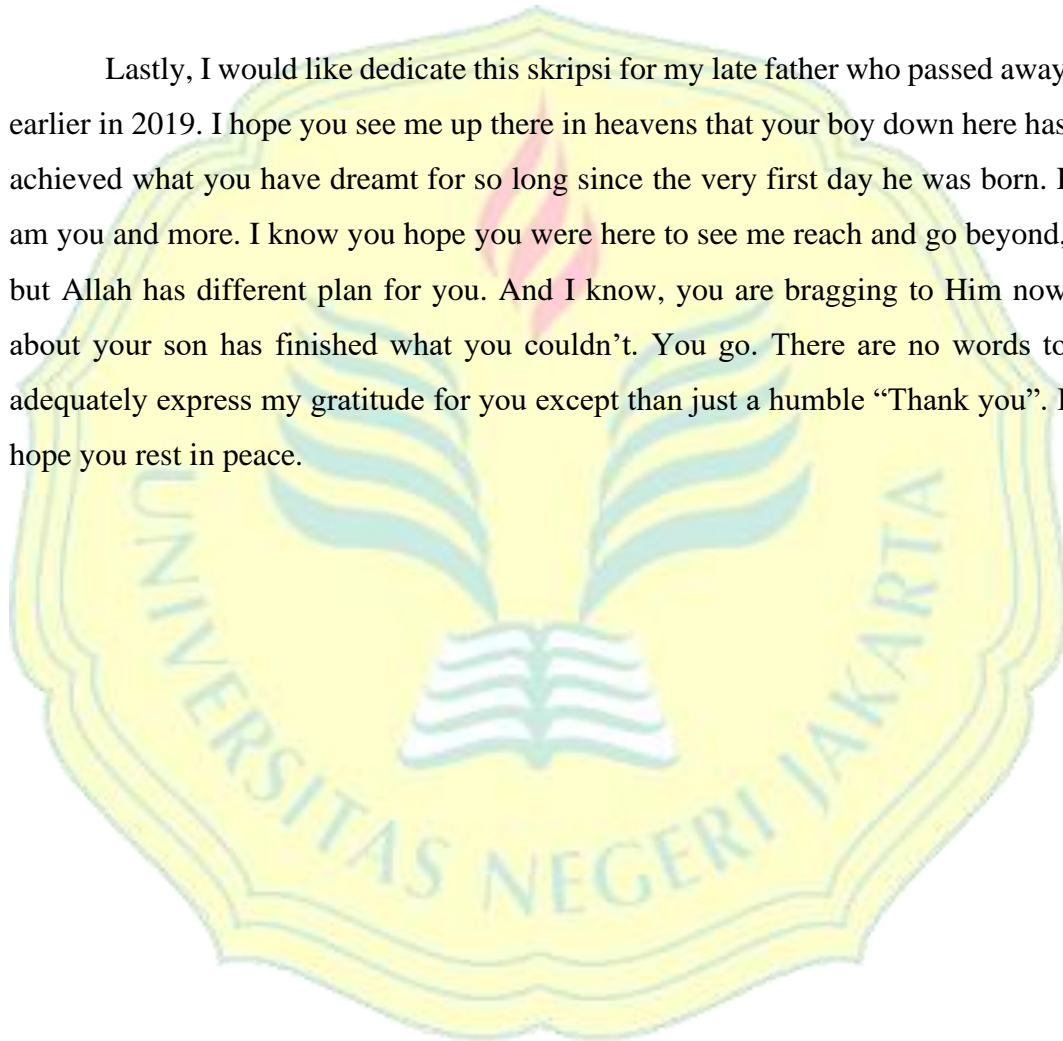

I would like to express my most sincere gratitude to my mother and my aunts for giving me the support I needed when the circumstances rose, both mentally and materially. I would not be able to do a single analysis for the study if it were not for the push they gave. Especially for my mother, I thank you for the little taps on my shoulder and the little pushes on my back to keep my motivation going in finishing my study as a student. They were little, but they became my energy in finishing this skripsi.

For two specific fellow students, Fransisca and Firmansyah, accompanying me hand-in-hand with our shedding of blood, sweat, and tears in the final year of finishing our skripsi, I cannot express my gratitude enough for both of them as we shared the same battlefield like we were at war. We had spent countless sleepless nights, hurricane brainstorming, paper-rejection waterworks, and stinging massive headaches. I would walk with them to Mars and back. I thank you for keeping my sanity intact. Also, congratulations for our graduation.

I am extremely grateful for my research supervisors, Siti Wachidah, Ph.D. and Ellis Tamela, M.Pd, for giving me the opportunity of being one of their apprentices in doing this study. Their guidance has been a blessing. Even with my inadequacy in research, they still kind-heartedly and patiently guided me. It was a great privilege and an honor to study under their guidance. I am taking the initiative to extend my gratitude, hoping that both them and their family live a good life in exchange for a small step they have given to my life.

Thank you for all fellow workers, teachers, and friends of KC English Speak Up Centre Kelapa Gading. You guys are awesome. Thank you for letting me skip work in order to finish my skripsi. Thank you for keeping up with my non-sense for the last year. Thank you for letting me be a part of your family. Thank you for all the supports you gave me as I run my head down the road finding hope only to find despair.

Lastly, I would like dedicate this skripsi for my late father who passed away earlier in 2019. I hope you see me up there in heavens that your boy down here has achieved what you have dreamt for so long since the very first day he was born. I am you and more. I know you hope you were here to see me reach and go beyond, but Allah has different plan for you. And I know, you are bragging to Him now about your son has finished what you couldn't. You go. There are no words to adequately express my gratitude for you except than just a humble "Thank you". I hope you rest in peace.

ABSTRACT

Giffari Syabilla Ramadhan. 2020. Research Article Titles in TESOL Quarterly and TEFLIN Journals: A Transitivity Analysis. A Skripsi. Jakarta: English Language Education Study Program, Faculty of Languages and Arts, Universitas Negeri Jakarta.

Previous studies have examined research article titles based on the structural construction of the titles using Halliday's transitivity system. This study aims to analyse the functions and aspects stated in research article titles based on Halliday's transitivity system. The research article titles sampled for this study as data are taken from 20 research articles of TESOL Quarterly and TESOL Journal, which were published in 2018, with 10 titles from each journal. The researcher took a step-by-step approach in analysing the titles which resulted in the following findings: (1) There are two main functions in the stating of the title, which are the topic and the method. (2) The aspects of the topic include the area, dimension, and the concept. The aspects of the method include the action and the respondent. (3) The difference between the two journals is in the stating of the lexicogrammatical features representing the concepts and the actions.
